dedication: mr. hughes

Mr. Hughes came to Parkrose in the Spring of 1956 with a World History major. The mechanical drawing teacher was taken ill, and a substitute was needed. Although Mr. Hughes had never had any courses in mechanical drawing, he agreed to "baby-sit" the class. He came back the next year, with two mechanical drawing classes and the rest in world history. The 34 drawing students and Mr. Hughes learned together. He took classes in order to teach the students, and soon he dropped the history classes to teach all drawing. Now he has a full six classes of mechanical drawing and has turned it into as respectable a course as is offered at Parkrose.

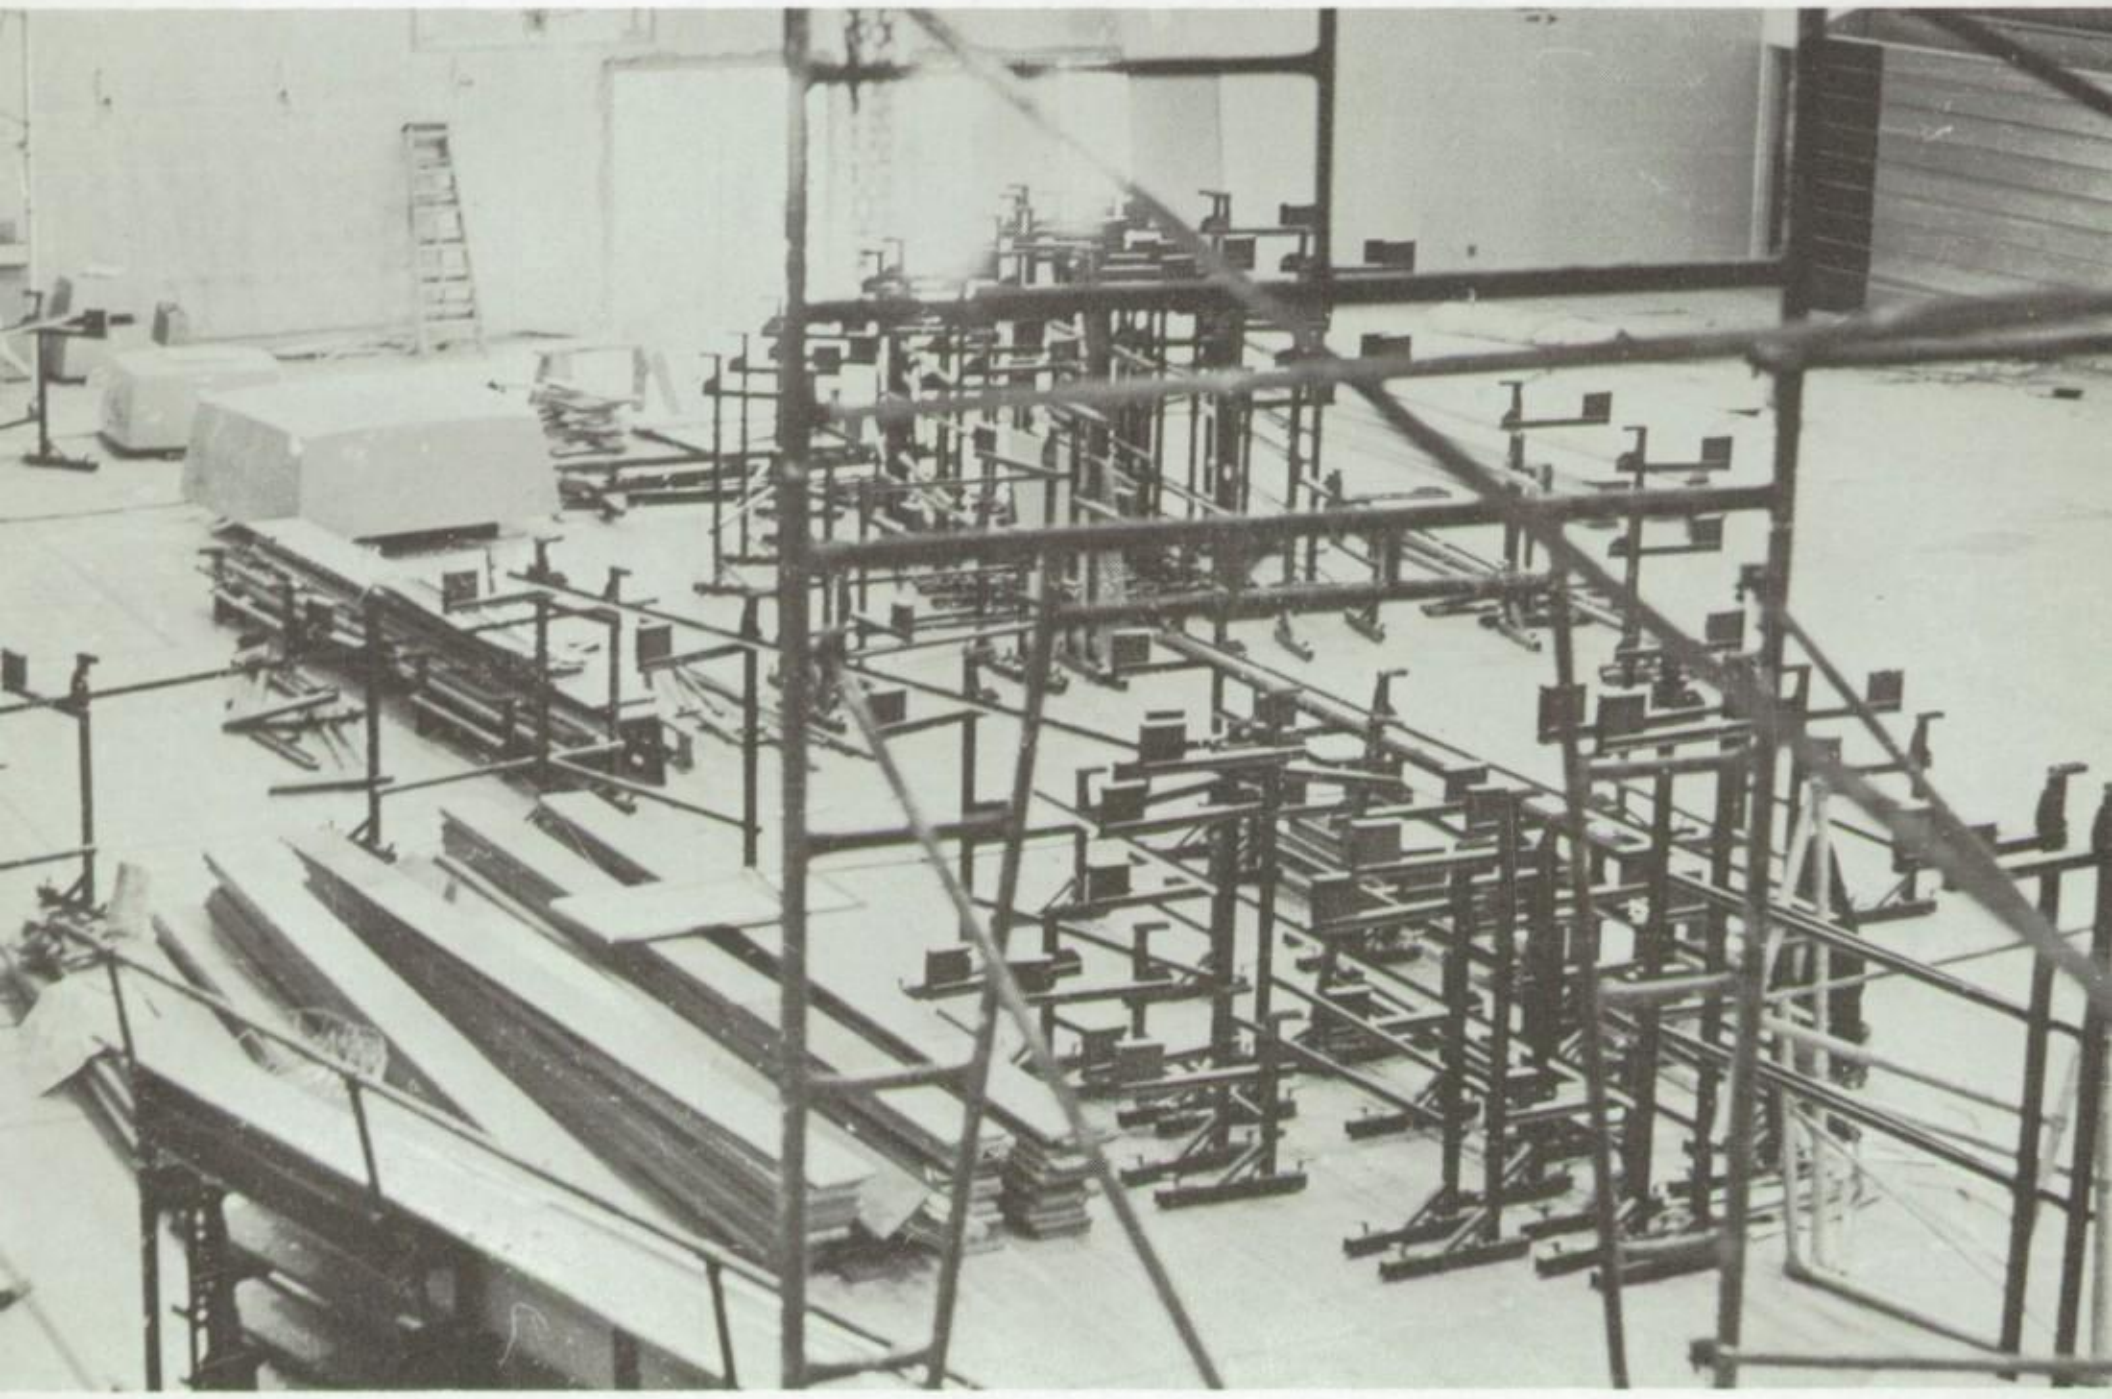
The kids call his class "mickey draw." They joke about it, but they know that it's no joke. He knows it, too. That's why he's always there – Saturdays, Sundays. If time is any measure of a man's devotion to his work, perhaps the words of a close friend sum up Mr. Hughes' relation to the students: "My God, he lives at the school."

To Mr. Hughes, who has dedicated so much time and effort for the benefit of his students, we dedicate the 1966 Equus Ferox.

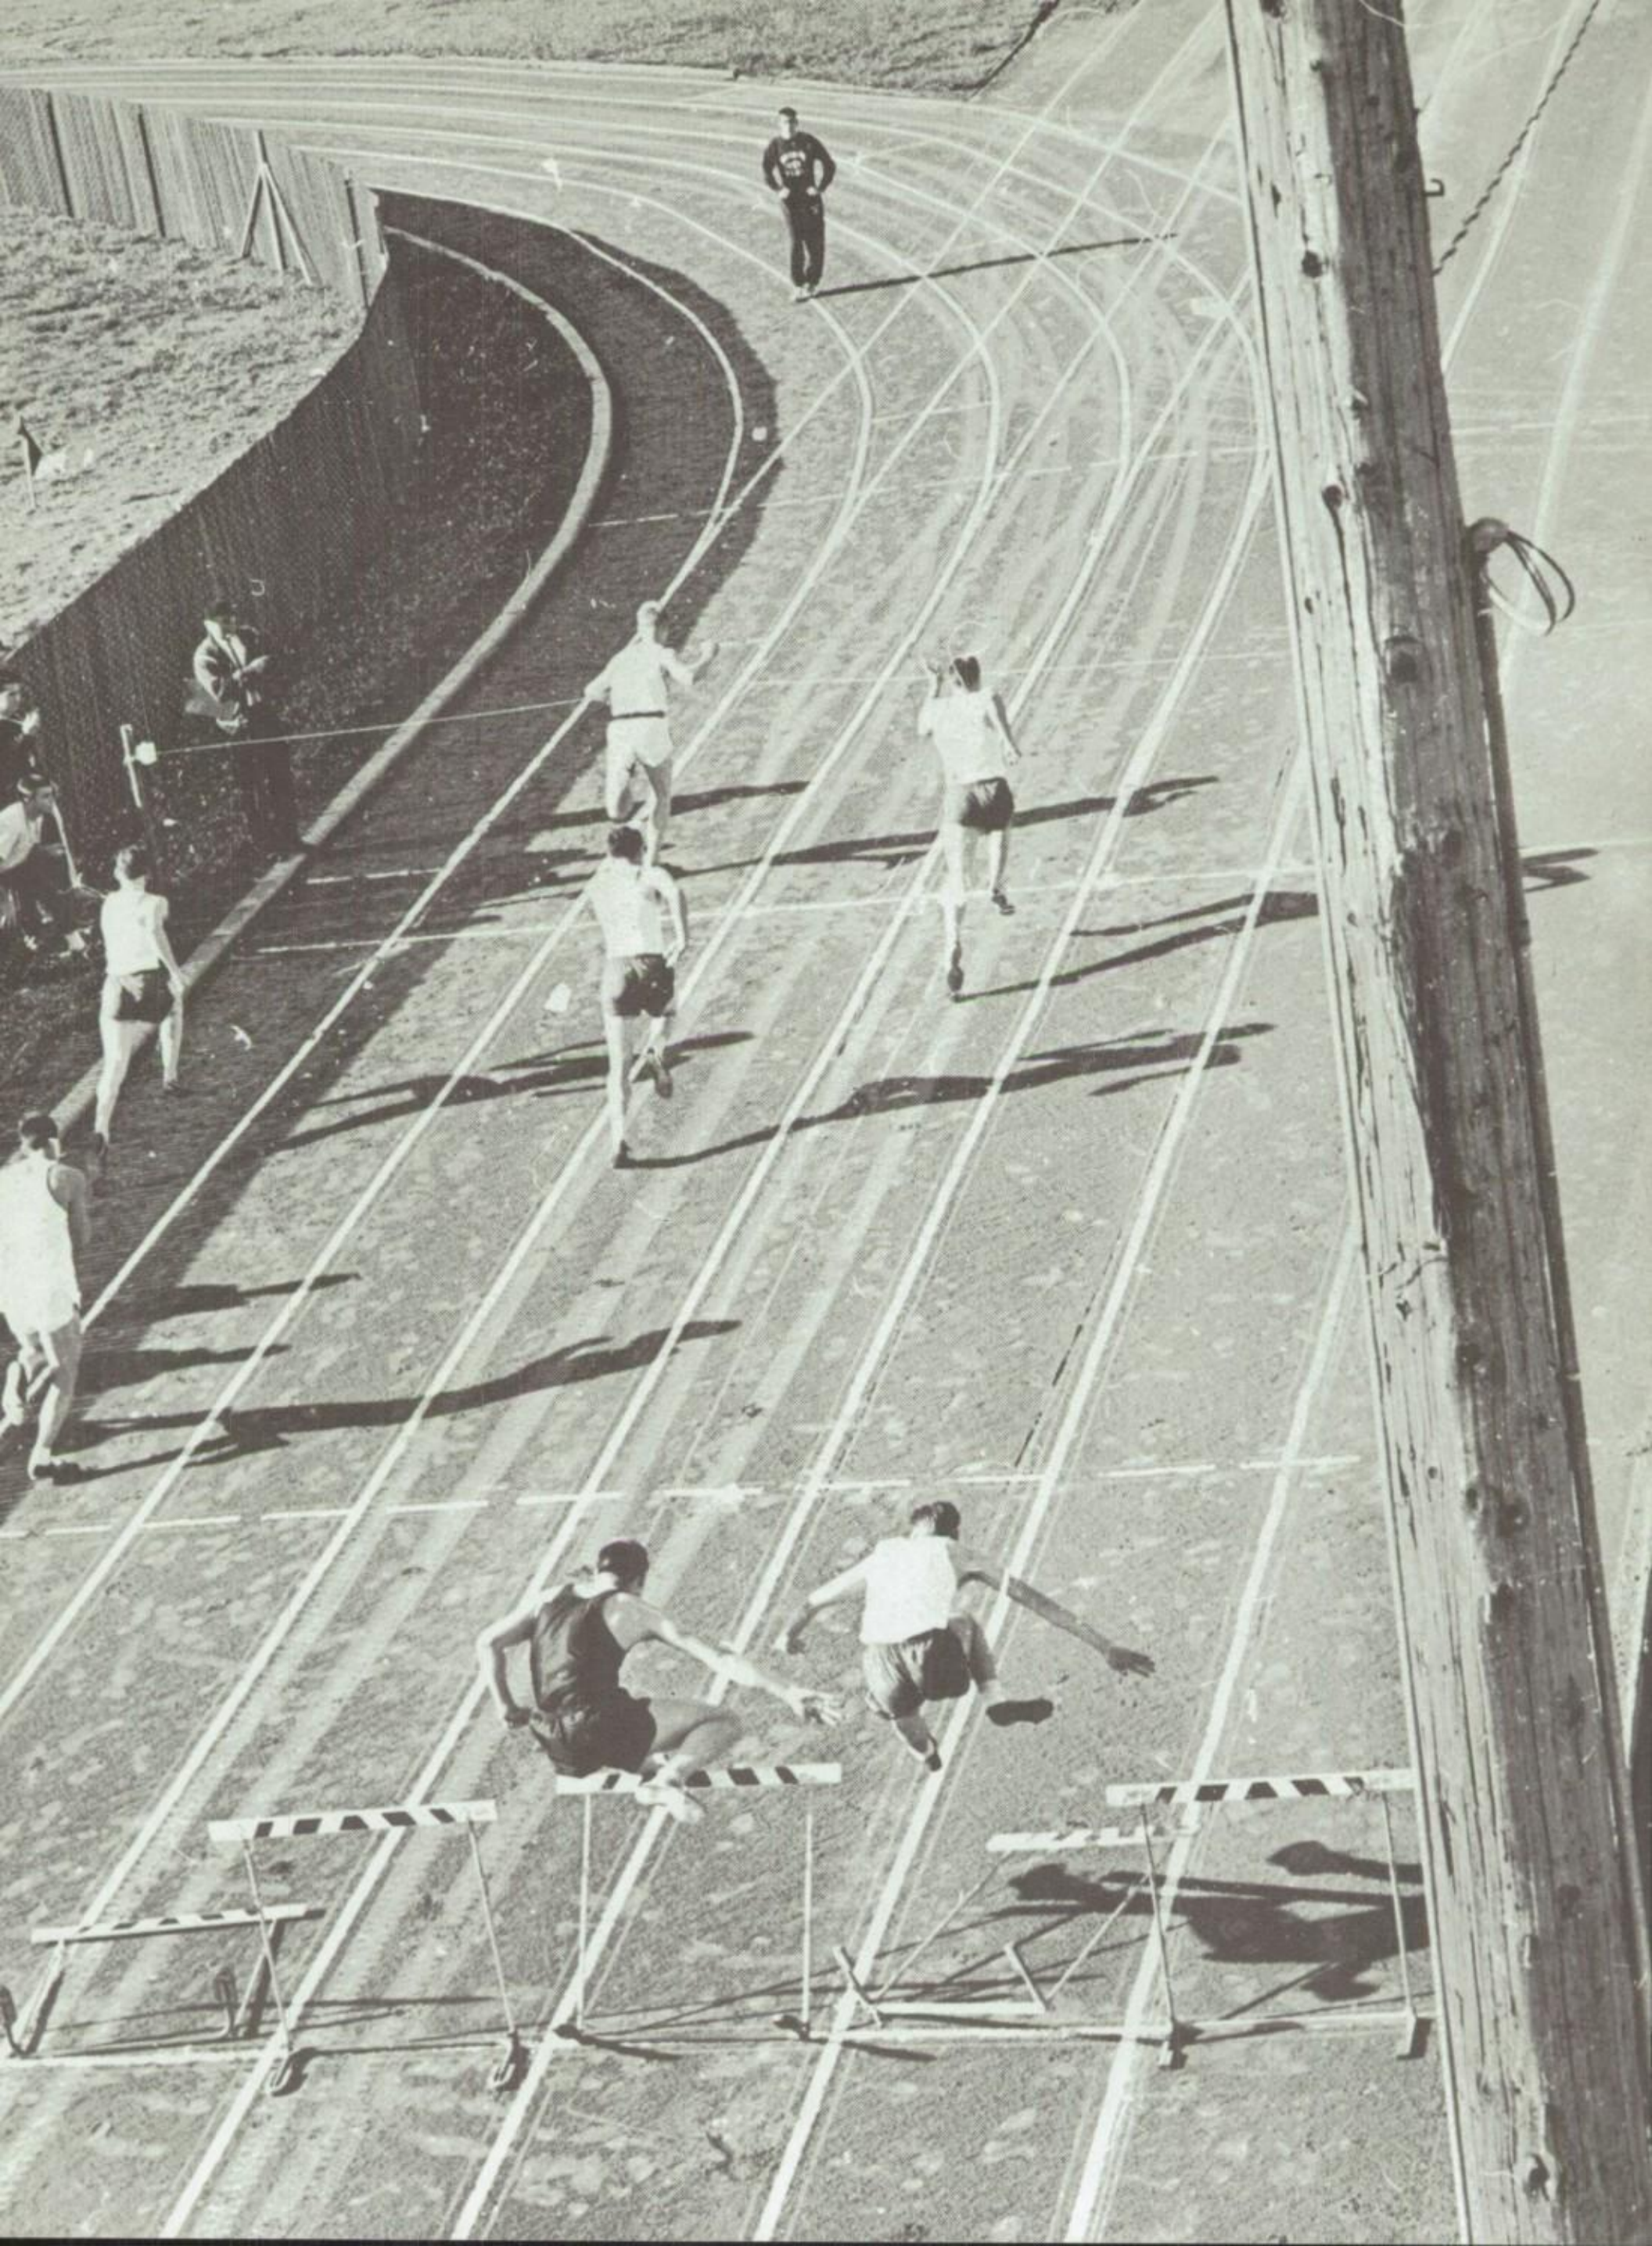
It was strangely disconcerting to see them tear apart the present

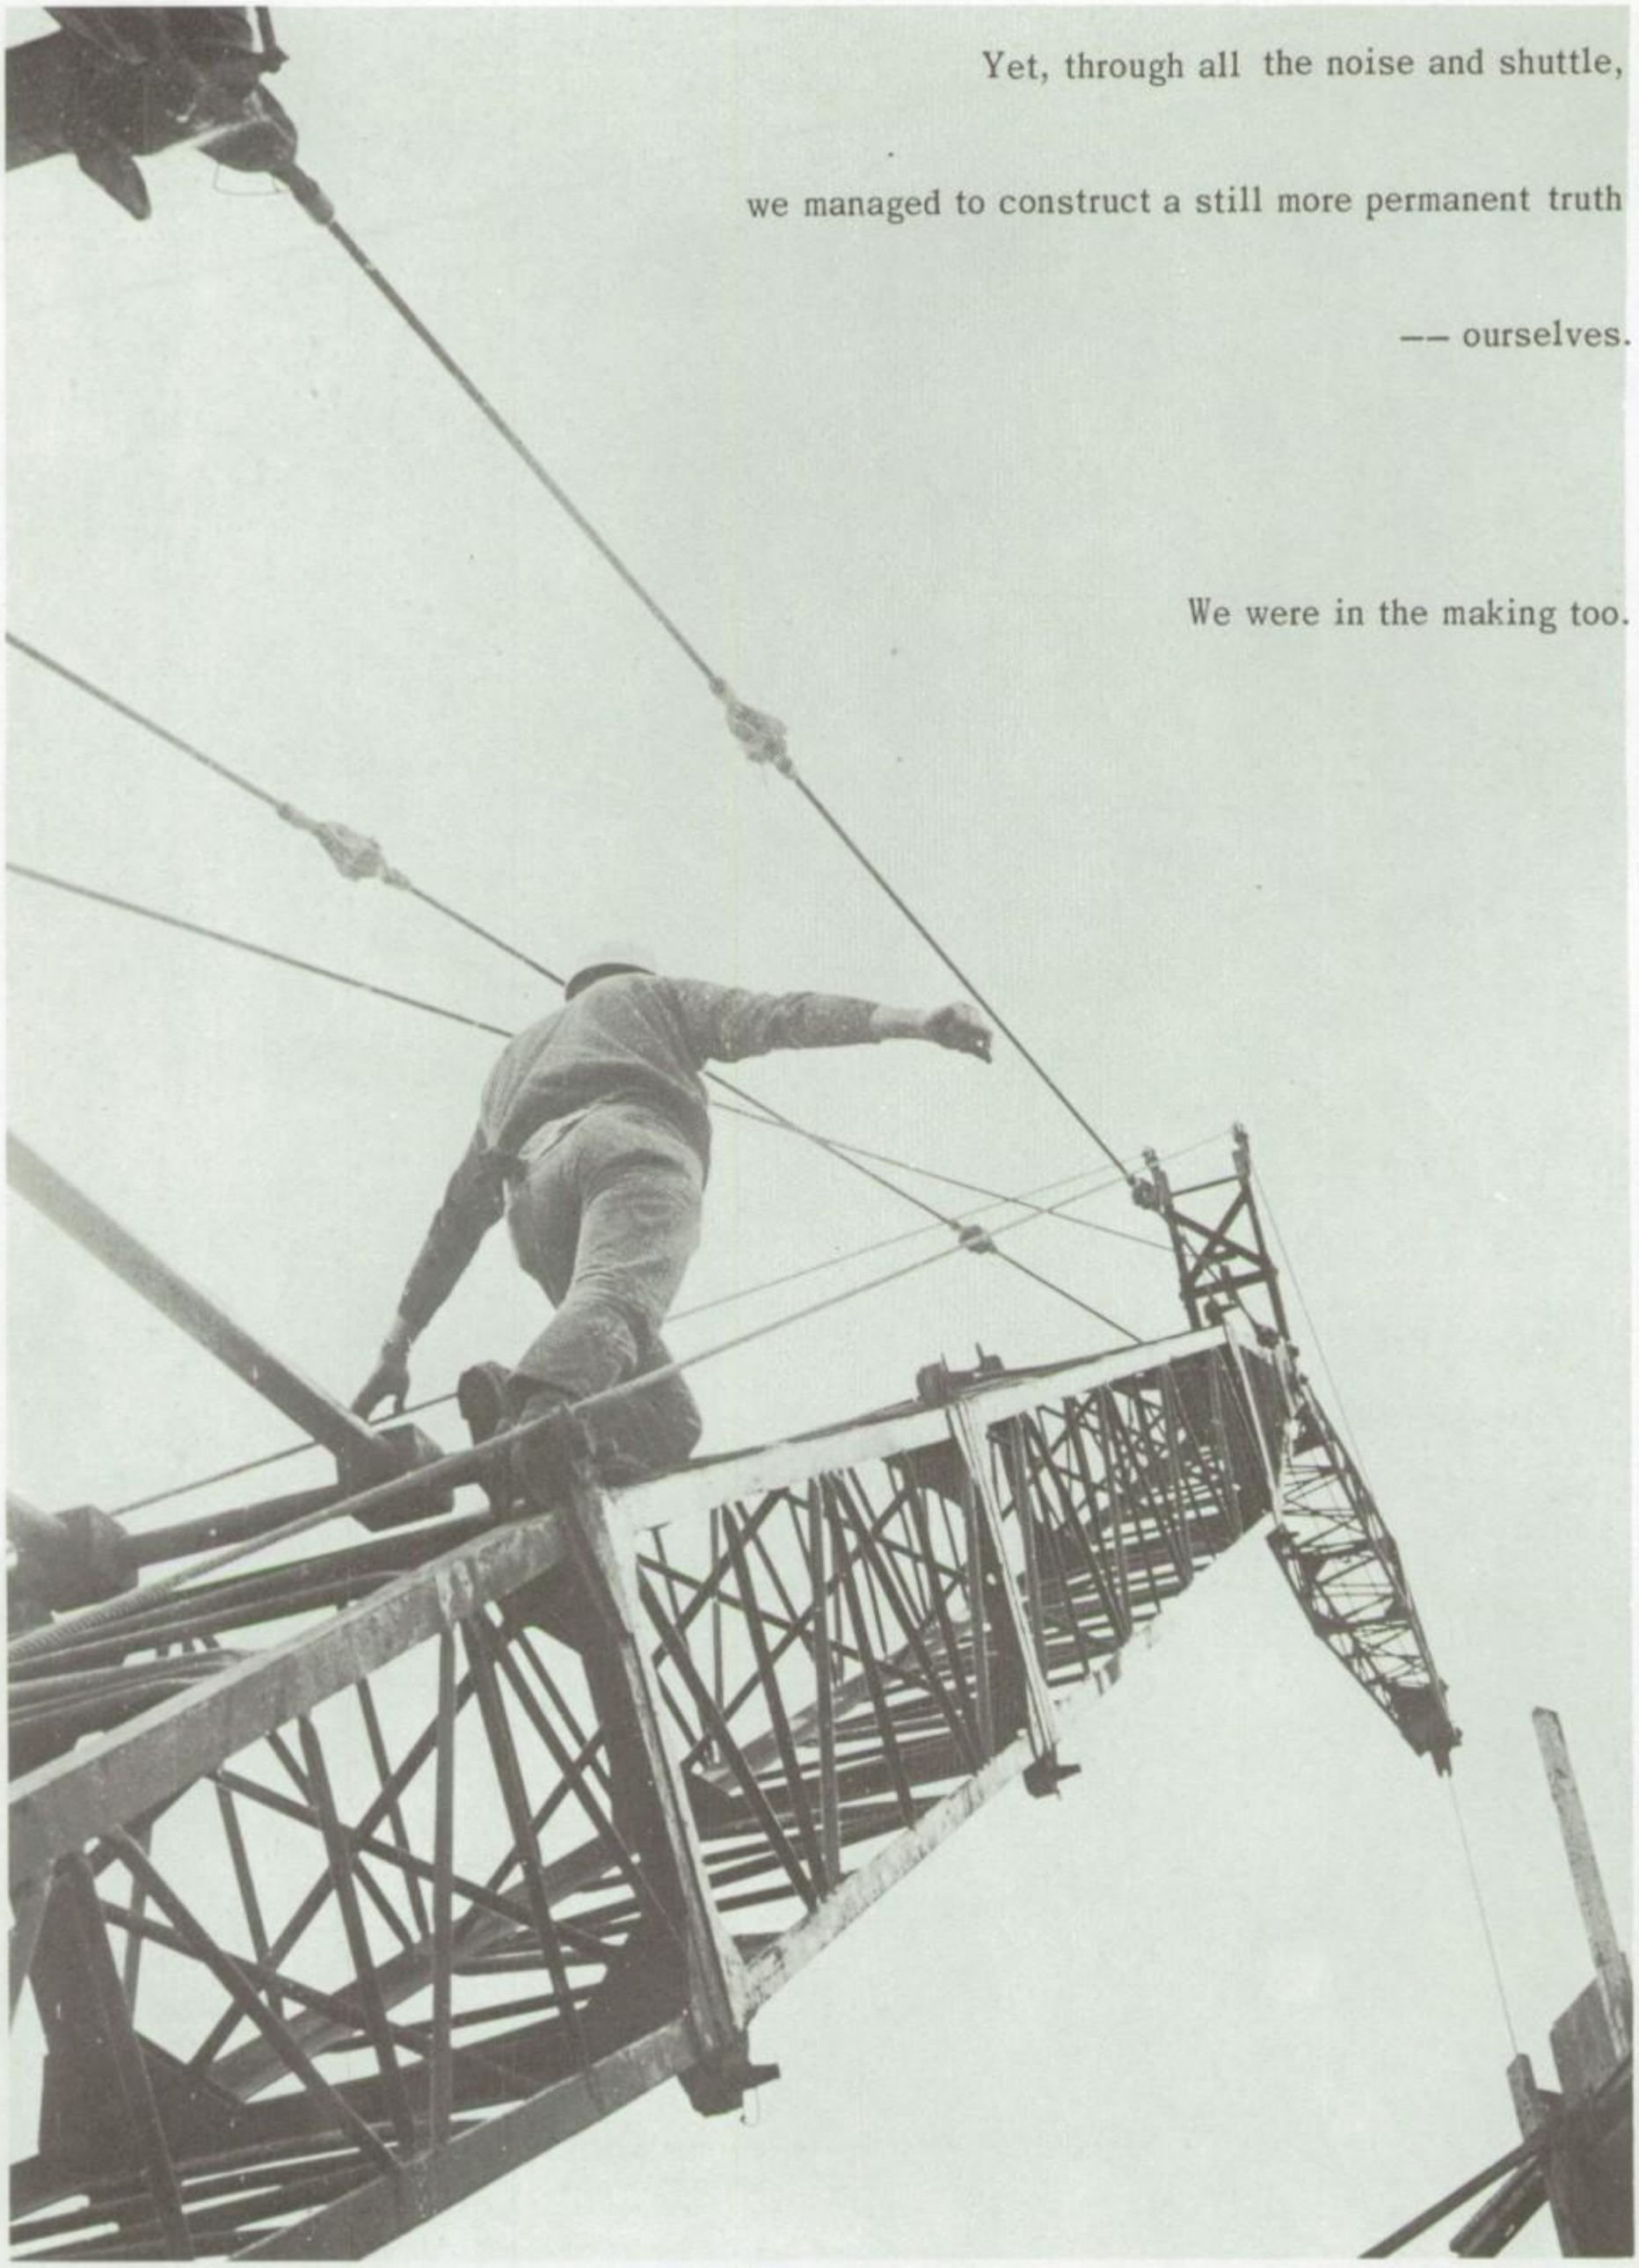
—— then calmly reassemble it as the future.

Rooms rose like silent bubbles. Voluminous.



Blueprints came to life. Lines converged in graphic illustration.





Yet, through all the noise and shuttle,

we managed to construct a still more permanent truth

—— ourselves.

We were in the making too.

in the making

To gain knowledge and to stimulate interest, we come to Parkrose. Here, we can take classes which further train us in talents such as art, music, sewing, and business while we also learn how to conjugate verbs, to solve linear equations, and to understand democracy. Classes are planned to interest as well as educate the students.

With each class we take, we broaden our minds. As we plan our future, we will apply the knowledge and the talents that Parkrose has helped us aquire in some 3,500 hours in many ways: In college, in the world of industry, in the daily routine of housework, or in space. We will always be grateful to Parkrose for a beginning.

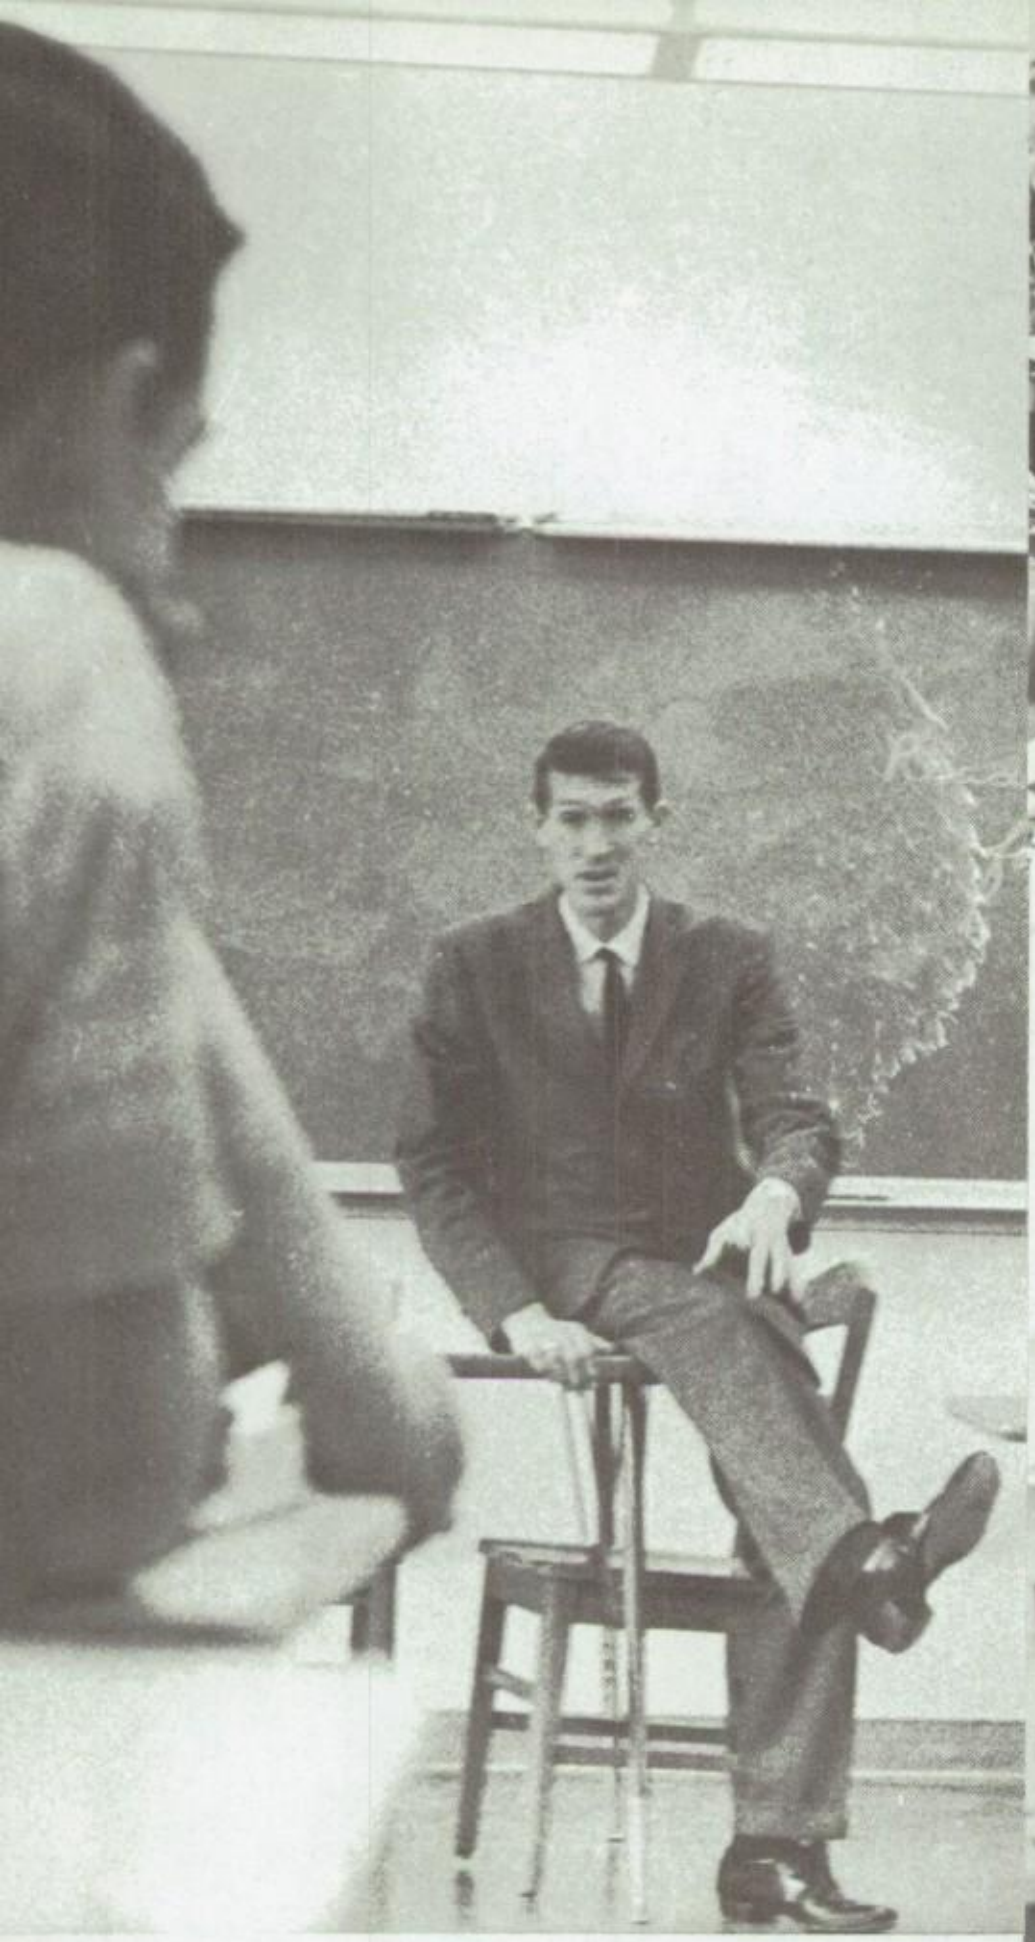
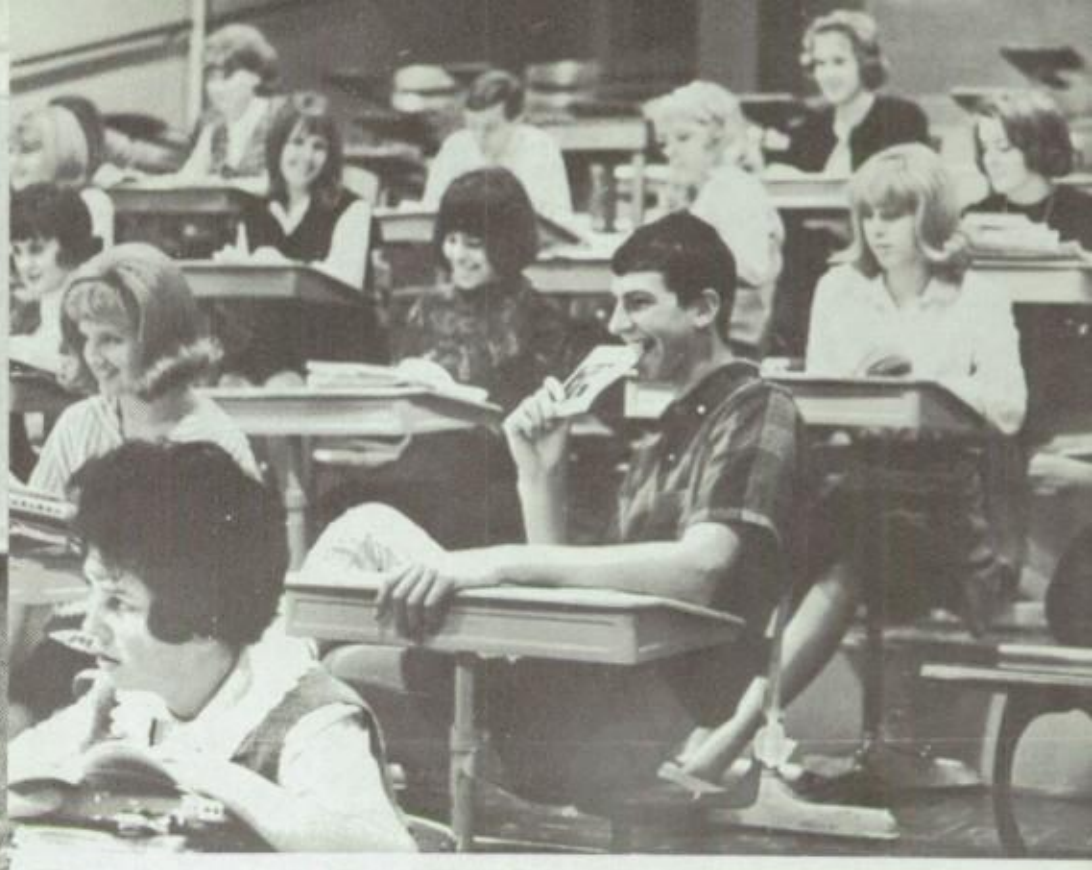
Communication is the key word in any language courses, expressing ideas and facts within the orderly structure of grammar. Senior students have found the new literary seminar class most interesting. They are asked to read both modern and classic literature, then participate in free discussions during class.

Both senior and advanced junior students take a specialized look at English literature in a chronological forum, while the new humanities classes blend English with other forms of expression, such as art and drama.

Personal oral expression is taught in the speech classes, ranging from impromptu to interpretive or humorous speeches. One extra-curricular activity which stems from this class is the forensics team.





foreign languages

New understanding of Spanish, French, and German cultures is almost as important as studying the language and practicing to perfect grammar and pronunciation. One can learn a myriad of facts about history, religion, economics, and customs while learning the language of another country, particularly from teachers who have visited the countries involved. There are a variety of methods for foreign language study, such as tapes, textbooks, records, and films.

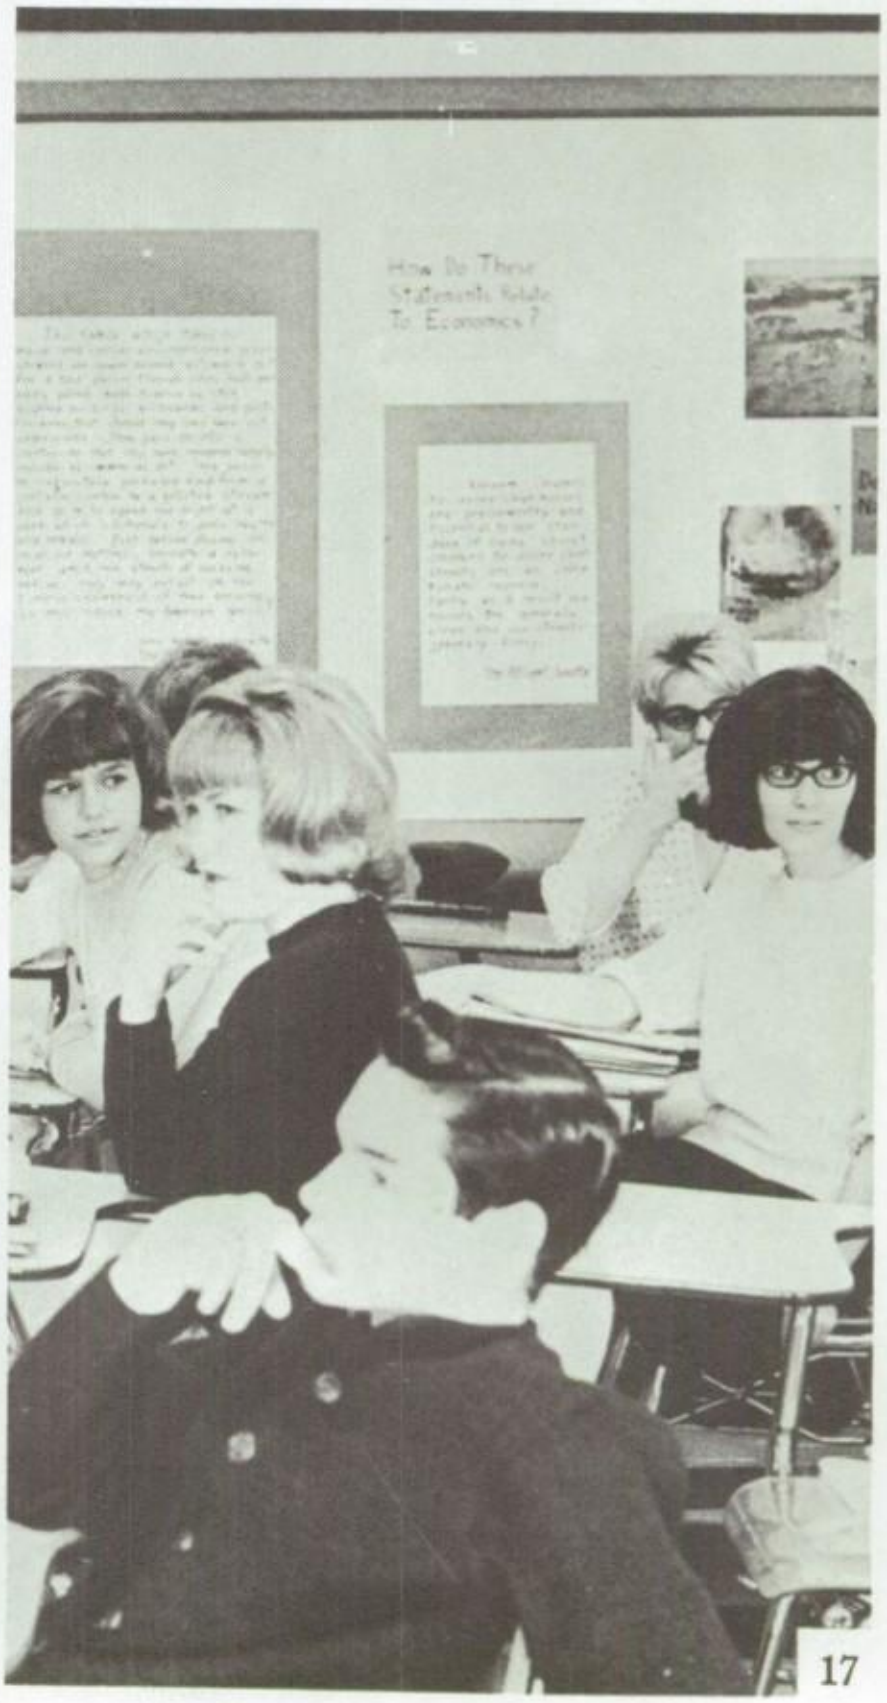
Students learn about the world around them in social science classes. They study the nations and empires of other times and the government and economies of today's world. In courses like modern problems they gain knowledge that will help them to become better and more well-informed citizens. By applying lessons of the past from studies of history to present day situations, it is hoped that these future voters can critically analyse the issues before them with greater foresight and a sense of responsibility.



physical education

Developing coordination in physical activity is the aim of the physical education classes. Students participate in many sports as the year progresses, such as volleyball, baseball, dancing, tumbling and apparatus, basketball, track and field sports, and swimming.

Fitness of the body, as well as the mind, is essential. P. E. classes try to attain this goal.

Several of the most practical classes offered at Parkrose are the business courses, teaching skills that are now required for a great many clerical jobs. Typing, shorthand, business law, and office practice fall into this category. Some of these may also be very useful for seniors who are planning to go on to college in the near future. The knowledge gained in these courses are invaluable.

While specialized business training may confine a person to one field, the combination develops a competence that will result in better paying positions and possibilities for greater advancement.

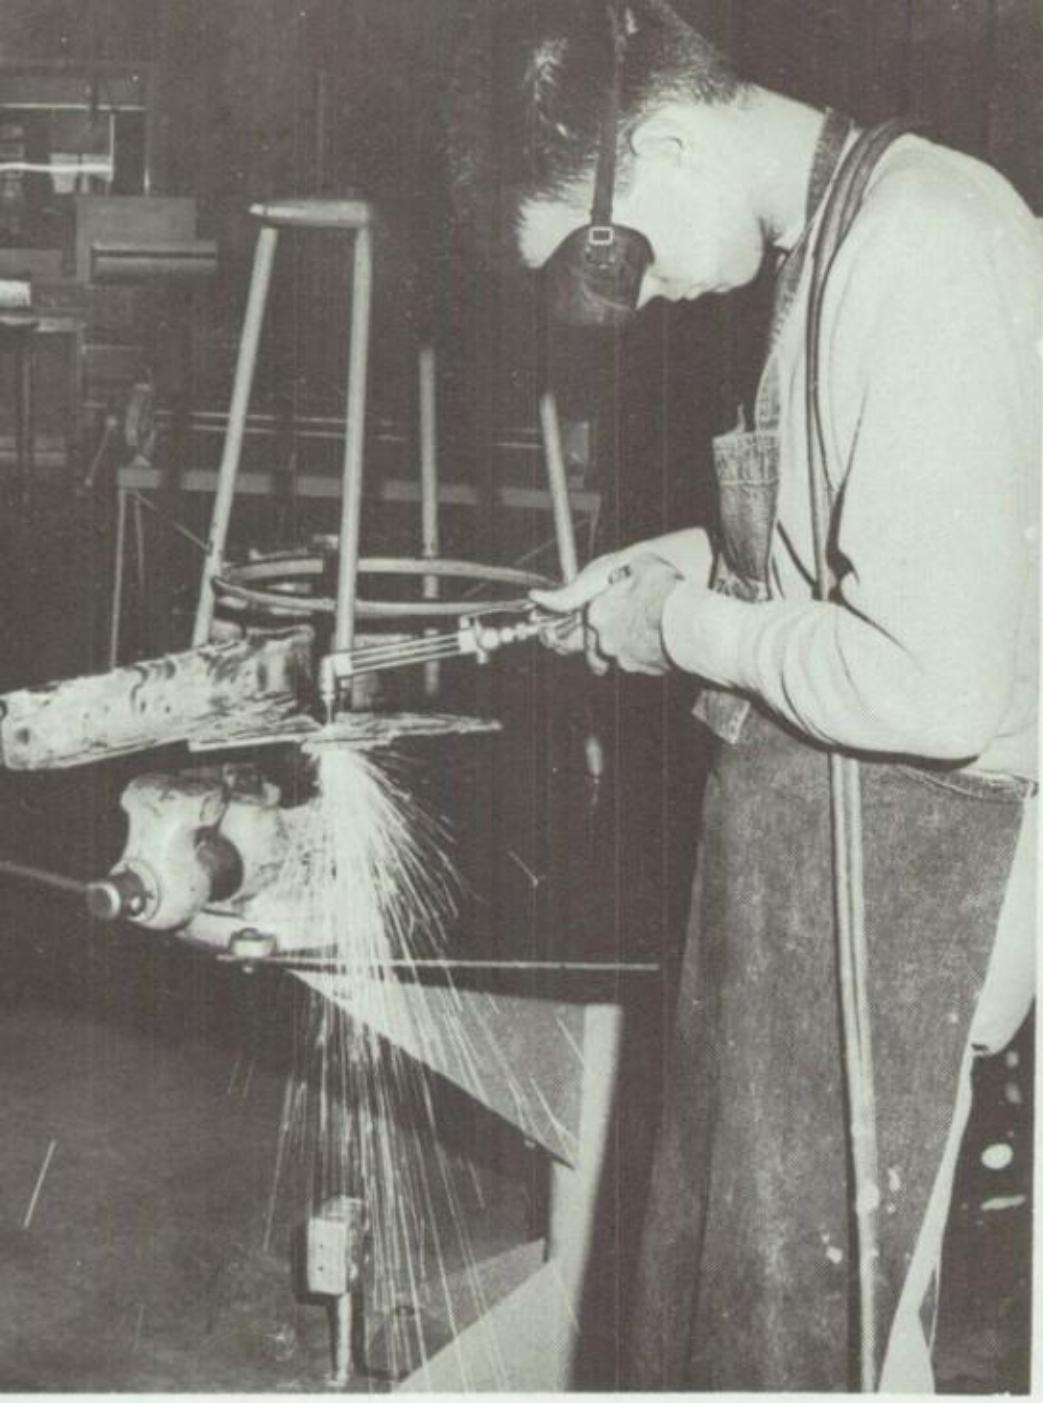
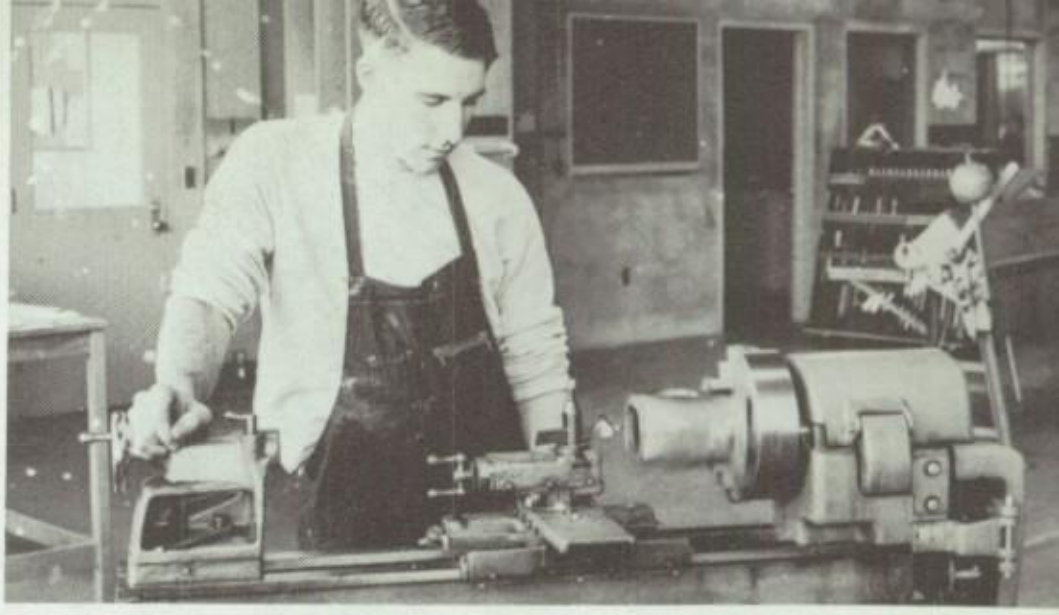
Art classes give students a chance to express their creativity in many ways. These classes are now using a variety of media in their work. This includes oil paints, ink for drawing and lettering, and tissue paper for colleges. Careful instructions in balance and harmony help students to improve their talents as well as stimulate interest.

Many people may find that their powers of perception are greater as a result of the work they have done in art classes. When drawing or painting objects, it is necessary to view them more closely.





shops and homemaking

Homemaking skills are important to any prospective wife, as well as those who will set up housekeeping on their own. Here, the girls work in the kitchen, baking, and learning to make their own clothes in the sewing room.

Several boys are working at right in various shop classes, developing mechanical abilities by hours of practice and careful instruction.

Above, a student guides a cutting torch in metal shop. These courses are in many ways similar to on the job training.

music and drama

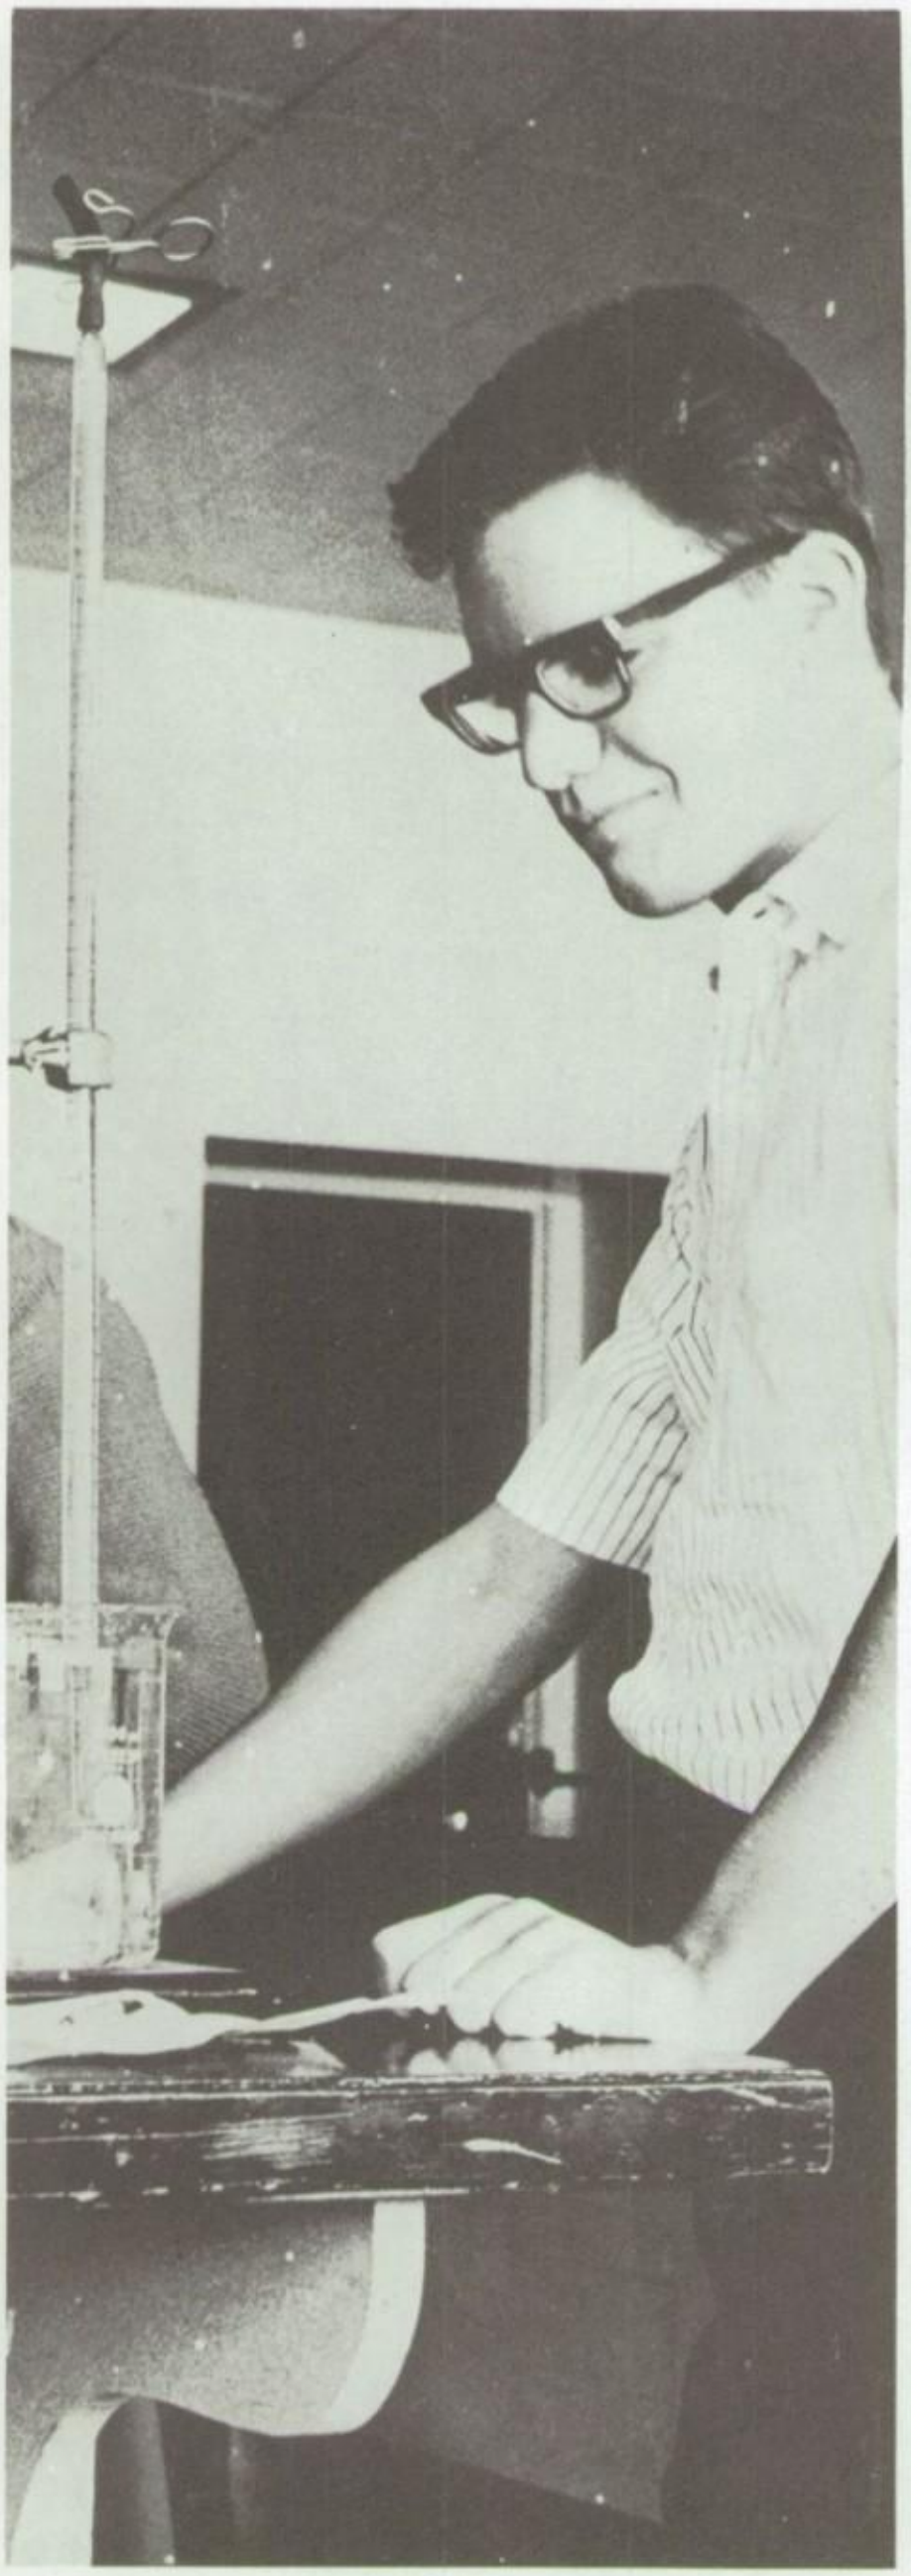
A-Capella choir members practice enthusiastically for the Thanksgiving program. They often find these rehearsals fun as well as work. Just count the smiles.

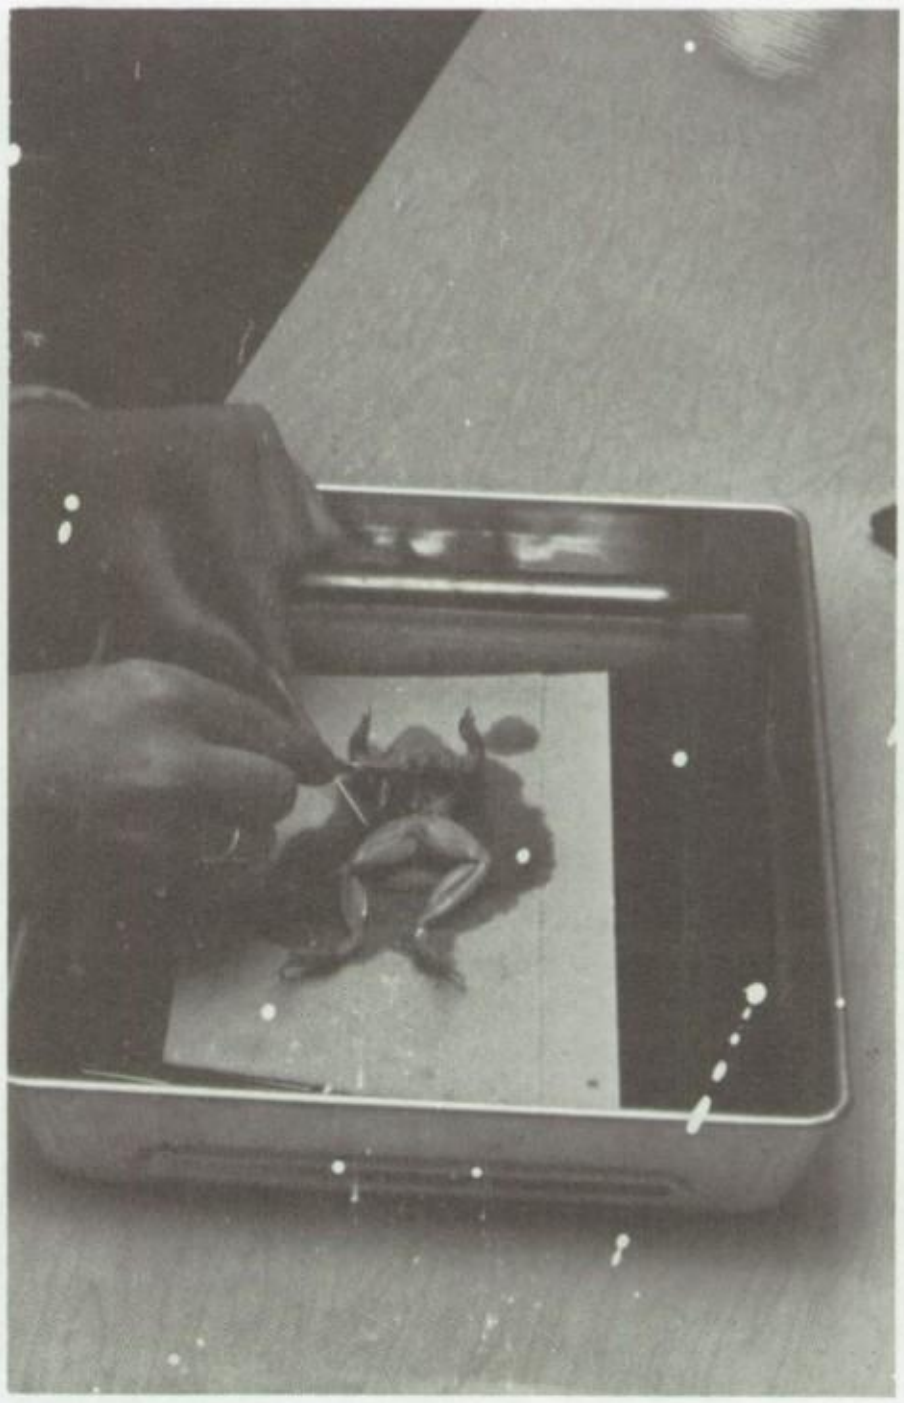
Drama is another of the classes which provides enjoyment to many, and an opportunity for performance in addition to study. In these surroundings, thespian leanings of Parkrose students are encouraged, and their talents are developed.

At left, intently watching the music in front of them, the clarinet players of the Parkrose band rehearse their parts, perfecting tone and rythm as do all members of the band. Some of those developing these skills here may one day be professionals.

Each of these classes can be considered a form of art. Many of the students have had private training outside of school, and most participate in extra-curricular musical or dramatic work.

Most of the student body can come and enjoy the high quality productions put on by these departments, such as "Twelfth Night", the spring choral show, and many band concerts.





Observations are essential, as any science student knows, so they stay prepared with a sharp eye and a sharp pencil to record what's happening.

Biology students may find some of their most interesting days spent in the lab. Here they explore organisms and study functions of living cells.

Precision is the method in these courses. Students solve for the unknown with basic albegra, and work with the science of sizes and shapes, geometry. Physics provides a more involved look at objects of our environment and the forces which effect them. The advanced courses, though more difficult to learn, show increasingly fascinating ways to solve complicated problems of space, velocity, and energy.

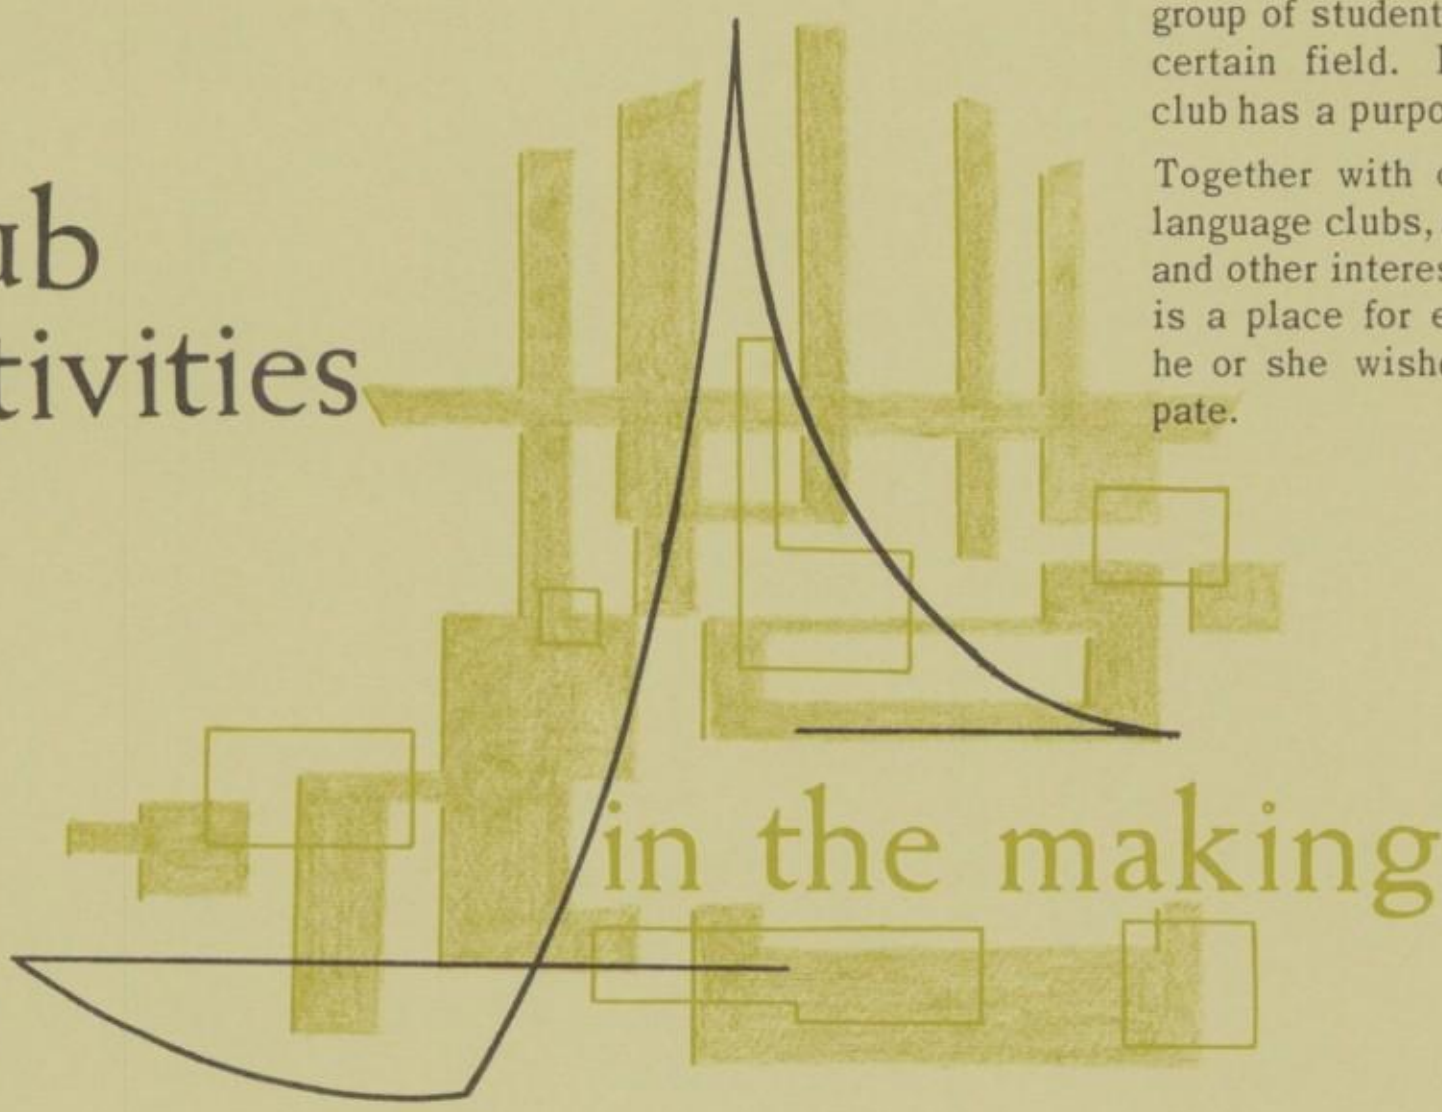
club activities



in the making

Every school has clubs, but at Parkrose we have clubs to cover almost everyone's interests. Organized this year were such clubs as those for outdoors people, those interested in cars, in art, in astronomy, and in philosophy.

Each club we have is designed to benefit the school or a group of students interested in certain field. In short, each club has a purpose.

Together with our pep clubs, language clubs, athletic clubs, and other interest groups, there is a place for each student if he or she wishes to participate.

student body president

"I look back upon the activities and accomplishments of this year's student body with a great amount of praise. The sophomores displayed their great spirit and various talents to a high degree. The juniors showed their qualities of responsibility and their enormous enthusiasm for school activities. The seniors established themselves as leaders of Parkrose High through their efforts in school and community affairs.

The overall effect of these classes united as a student body was a renewal and enlargement of enthusiasm and responsibility at Parkrose Senior High School. The student body of 1965–66 has displayed many of the finest qualities of character and leadership a group of people can possess. It has established Parkrose High as a hub for many of the community activities. I'm sure that the accomplishments of our students this year will long be remembered. May the result of their fine efforts echo in the halls and corridors of P.H.S. eternally."

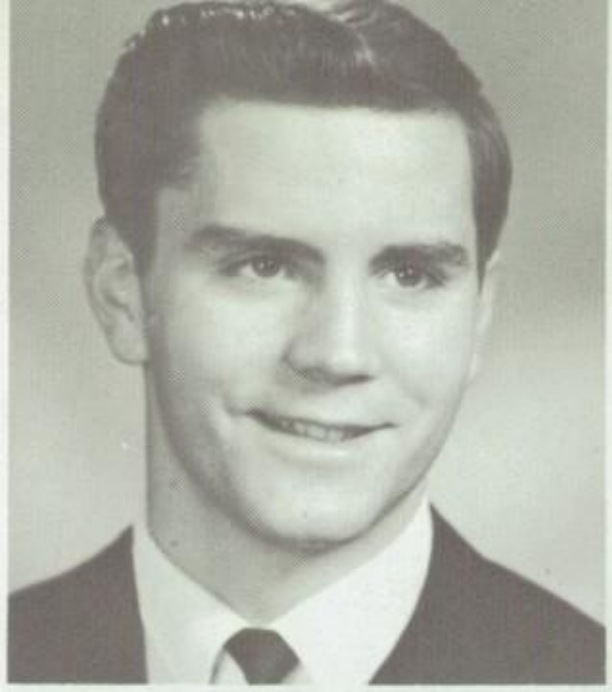
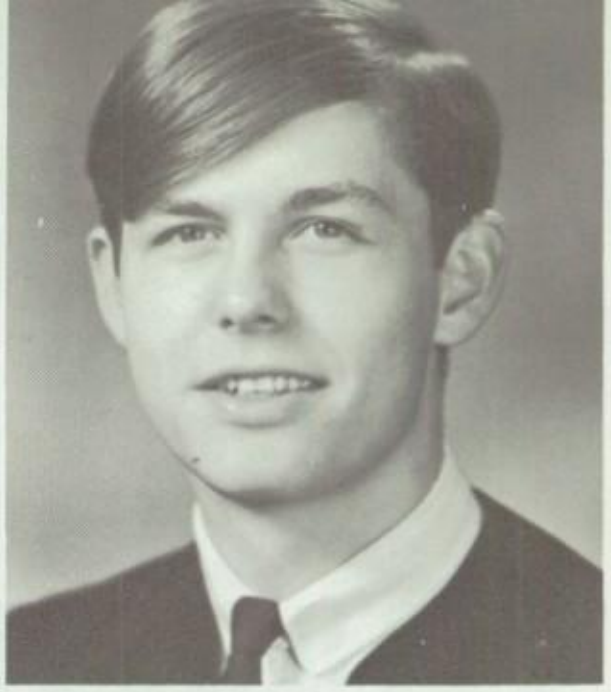
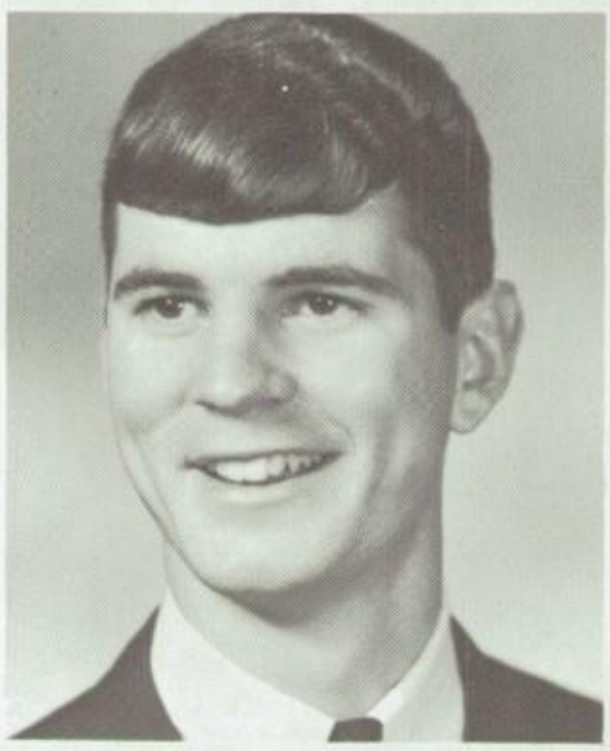
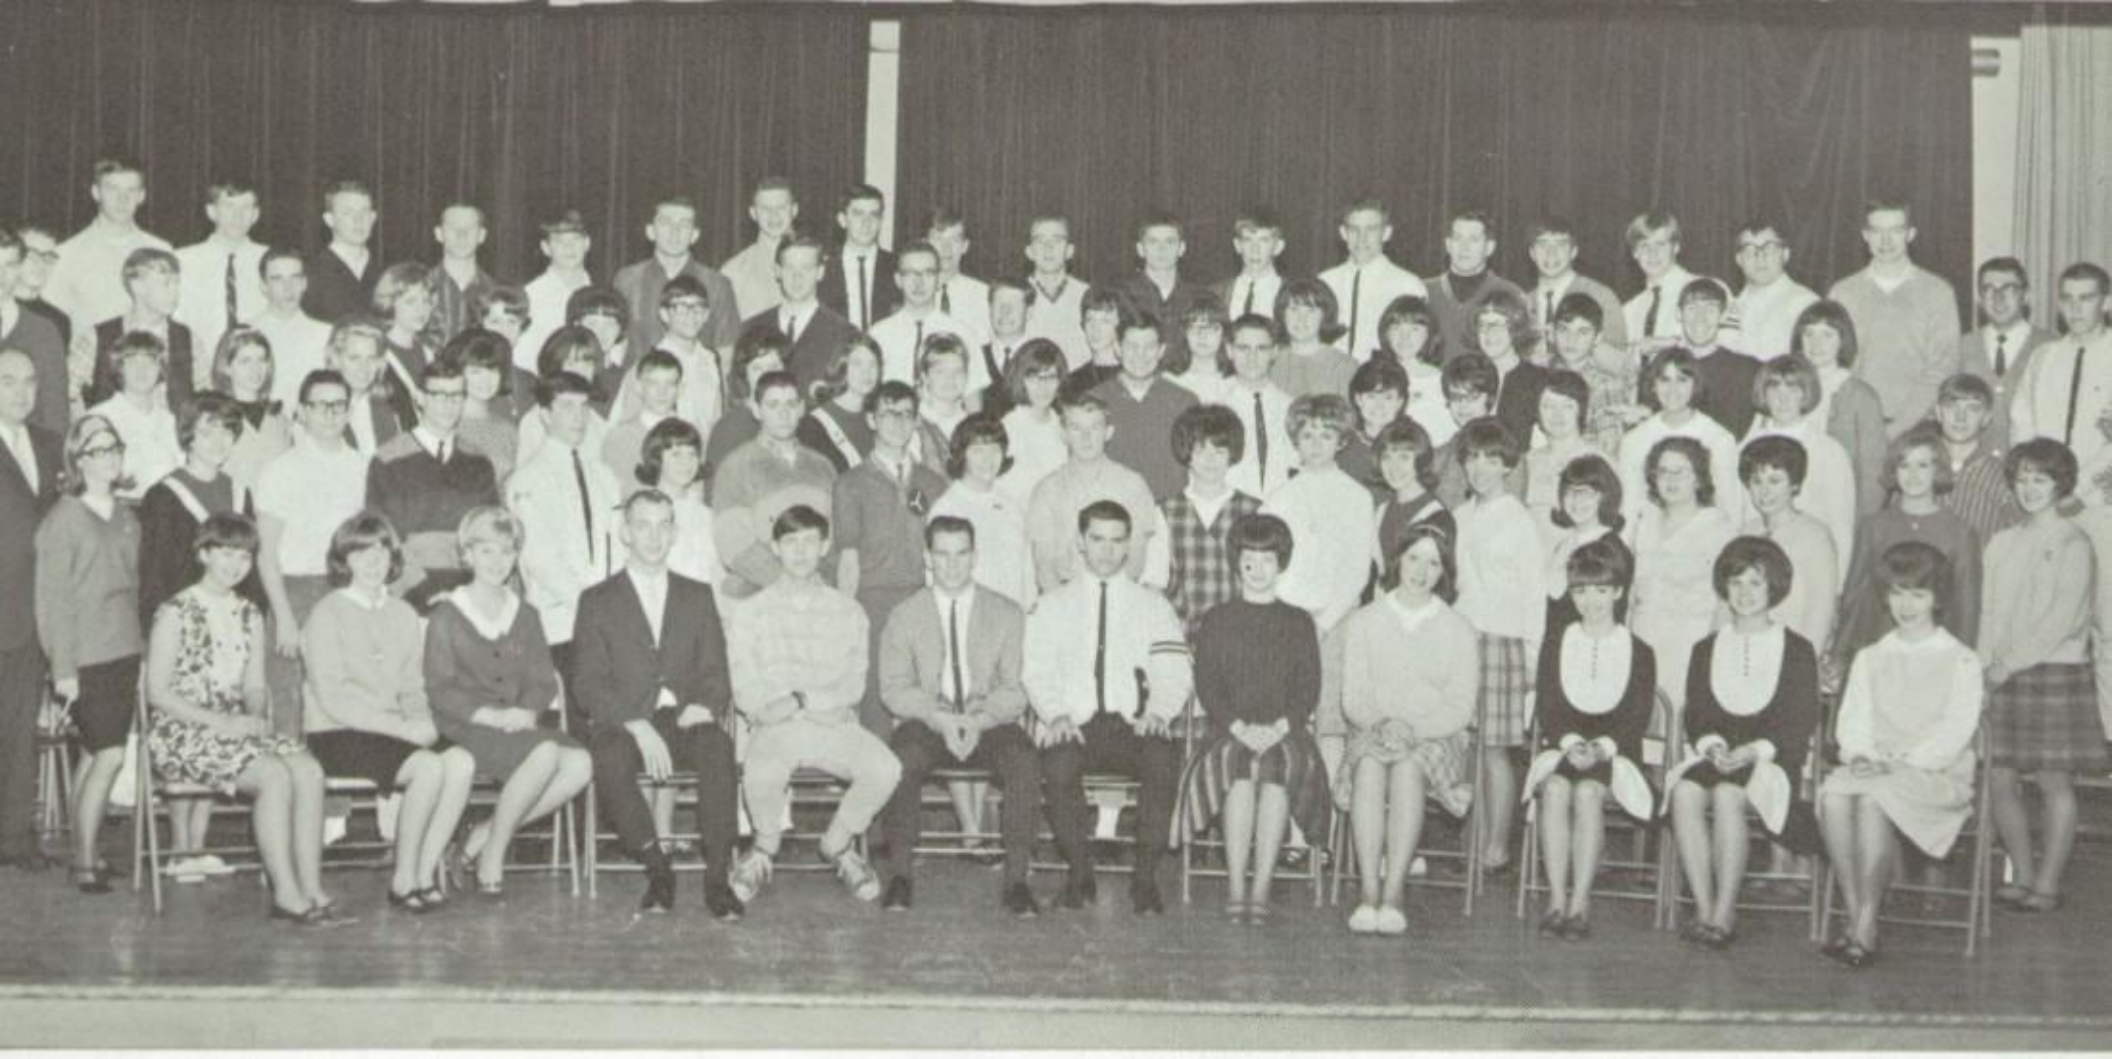
This year's First Vice-President Greg Frank showed enthusiasm in his planning of Camp Colton and in coordinating the standing committees. Dan Matthews and Dennis Snodgrass shared the office of Second Vice-President, each serving one semester. Their duties were to head the Inter-Club Council and to take charge of working with the rally squads. All Student Council minutes and agendas were excellently handled by Linda Fulcher, the Secretary. The Assistant Secretary, Peg Lisk, was the recording secretary for I.C.C. and took care of the correspondence. Kelly Longcor and Kathy Vanek took turns at balancing the books and writing checks, as they served as Co-Treasurers.

Mr. Booth had this to say about the success of this year's officers, "The 1965–1966 student body officers have been among the finest leaders that Parkrose Senior High has ever elected. These officers have made a sincere attempt to develop other student leaders and create student interest in school government participation. The leaders of '66 will be missed but long appreciated."









student council

The agenda for the '66 Student Council was filled with projects throughout the year. The members of the council started the year off right with the annual Leadership Retreat at Camp Colton, where they exchanged ideas and gained knowledge besides joining in fun. The ideas gained from this weekend were a benefit to the school throughout the year. At their regular meetings the council passed such legislature as the summer delivery of Equus Ferox, a completely new and workable constitution, and the addition of the Student Store Manager to Executive Council, besides encouraging the highest percentage of registered voters in the history of Parkrose. Welcome additions initiated by the council were the new permanent ballot boxes, a handsome honor roll board, a mural painted on the breezeway wall, a display of club charter plaques, and perhaps the most important and most permanent, the addition of a coat-of-arms. As shown, Student Council spent a productive year, reaching goals not possible without the cooperation of each member doing their share.

Student Body Officers, Standing Committee Chairmen, Rally Queen, Bud and Annual Staff Editors, and the Student Store Manager make up the Executive Council. These students meet before each Student Council meeting to present new ideas or discuss the merits of new proposals. From this meeting comes the agenda for the following Student Council meeting. This year's Executive Council, recognizing the growth and renewed importance of the Student Store, proposed that a representative from the Store be made a permanent member of the Executive Council. This proposal was eagerly passed by the students. An active organization, this group acts as the hub of Student Council activities.

The Inter-Club Council, composed of a representative from each club, found itself quite busy throughout the year. I.C.C. handled Homecoming Week with a great amount of success, staging the best coronation assembly ever presented. At Christmas, they organized the canned food drive, encouraging students to bring in more food than in any past year. Two money-raising basketball games were handled through I.C.C. In the spring the students undertook the making of a robe and scepter to be used in coronation assemblies of the future. Besides these extra activities, I.C.C. coordinated club activities and gave its aid to clubs needing help, making the council a successful addition to the organizations of PHS.

Each Standing Committee contributed to the smooth running of school affairs. Vicki Hinckley and Mr. Baekel worked with the Assembly Committee, preparing and improving assemblies. The Constitution Committee, headed by Kay Donaldson and Mr. Frantz, rewrote this year's constituiton. Doug Hardesty and Mr. Johnson and the Evaluation Committee evaluated activities by a questionnaire on that activity. The House and Grounds Committee, also advised by Mr. Johnson, and headed by Gail Brown, was in charge of bulletin boards, showcases, and cafeteria clean-up. Glenda Beach and Mr. Herrington worked with the Publicity Committee, organized to publicize all school events. The Safety Committee, headed by Steve Mahoney and Mr. Hughes, was responsible for the coordination of parking facilities and aiding in fire drills. Linda Hardesty and Mr. Teeny handled the concession stands at games, beside welcoming new students through the Social Committee. Mr. Booth advised four of the committees. The Awards Committee, headed by Joanne Krieger, approved, recorded, and presented all awards. Ronda Lapp kept track of all class points. Judy Burnett headed the Finance Committee, which handled all school funds. The Handbook Committee, led by Dean Gordanier, published an up-to-date pamphlet containing school information.

This year the honor of Junior Rotarian was divided between three senior boys, Jeff Schneider, Greg Frank and Dave Abbott. These students, selected by the faculty, reported on activities, honors, and athletics of the school at the Parkrose Rotary meetings.

girls' league

This year has been highlighted by the variety of Girls' League meetings which have been presented. As president, Sally Van Rooy and the other officers, Sue Beek, Mary Kales, Margaret Chesney, Marie Hamann, and Pat Bowen have done an outstanding job of making Girls' League a treat to be anticipated. The meetings, including a panel of boys, a fashion show, a parade of new shoes, the class skits and the Big and Little Sister Tea, were a success as never before. Mrs. Martin, the new advisor, and the enthusiasm of the officers have made Girls' League into a club of which this school is proud.

This year's Pep Clubers learned the value of early-rising, as often throughout the year they met to practice routines before the morning school bell rang. Although their main purpose is to support the Broncs at games and matches, they took part in many other activities such as Twirp week and the Spring Sports Banquet. To finance the Banquet, the girls took on a series of money-raising projects. They earned money by selling mums during Homecoming Week, sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance, and a number of other after-game dances, and sold tickets to the O.S.U.-Molars game. They gave service by helping the Girls League "hang the greens" at Christmas, and acted as guides at the Wilco League Choir Festival. A diversified organization, the Pep Club added a variety of acheivements to Parkrose Senior High.

varsity football rally

This year's football rally started the year off with a bang——taking all honors at the Lewis and Clark Rally Camp. In everything they did, the original designing of their uniforms, the skits at assemblies, and the yells which they presented to the student body, they gave themselves in a way which has not been surpassed by any rally who has previously represented Parkrose Senior High.

bronco-ettes

The Bronco-Ettes, now in their third year, showed admirable enthusiasm in their willingness to work for their school. Their uniforms, new this year, were designed and made by the girls. Consisting of sophomores, this club worked at concession stands, sold tickets at games and matches, and sponsored the Spring Sports Banquet. Along with their service record, they added needed yelling power to the Bronco rooting section.

Mrs. Blackburn's Bronco Hi-Lites were, just two years back, a twelve-member group called the Rhythmettes. They have come a long way. The group now consists of 28 girls, who are a part of a regular class in dancing where they make up their own routines and then spend hours practicing them. One of the most active groups in school, they performed at our pep assemblies, and games, and won fame when they appeared at the Far West Classic in December. To raise money for new uniforms, the girls initiated the B.H.L. Hour, a noon dance held several times during the year. This group has done an excellent job of providing entertainment for the student body. Our hats are off to the Bronco Hi-Lites.

The Letterman's Club, one of Parkrose's most active organizations, is open to all boys who have earned a Parkrose High School varsity letter. The members provide service to the school in many capacities, including operating the change booth in the cafeteria during the two lunch periods throughout the year. During Homecoming Week, the boys gathered wood for the big bonfire. To raise money for the scholarship fund, the members actively sold tickets to the OSU Rooks–Bernard's Molars game in February. They also sponsored two after-game dances and presented a beautiful Valentine's dance, the Sweethearts Ball. Through these activities this club has participated fully in giving service to our school.

The members of Ski Club spend every Saturday during January and February skiing at Multipor. They ride a school bus to the ski area, which leaves the school at 7:00 A.M. and returns around 5:00 P.M. The days are spent taking lessons, or just practicing on the different slopes which are available. The members get to know each other well, and soon discussions and singing takes up the time which must be spent on the bus. Anyone who is interested in trying a new and exciting sport is welcome to join this club, and in doing so will find it very rewarding.

The organization of Future Homemakers of America spent an active year enjoying such projects as sales and Christmas activities. The girls successfully sold cook books and baked goods during the winter months. At Christmas they assembled food baskets and collected toys for the children of the Waverly Baby Home. All the girls benefited from a cosmetic demonstration by Judy Van Vickle held in February. The main highlight was their Induction Banquet held at the lavish Barbary Coast Restaurant. All the girls participating in F.H.A. spent an enjoyable year sharing in the interesting and varied activities offered.

Future Teachers of America have kept themselves busy this year. Their first activity, selling at the concession stands at football games, was quickly followed up with the induction banquet and the state F.T.A. convention at Linfield College. Their meetings have been highlighted with various teacher panals and a joint meeting with the Sandy and Clackamus Clubs. The high point of the year was the student teaching which took place the first week of April. In May, they held their annual picnic at which they installed the new officers.

The main topic for discussion of this year's International Relations League was Africa. In order to better understand the problems confronting this troubled continent, the members participated in many district and state conferences, including two weekend conferences at the University of Oregon. At their regular meetings they listened to speakers such as Grace Wanjira from Parkrose and a student from Centennial who've come to Portland from Africa. All students involved gained in knowledge from the experience offered them through IRL.

One of the most beneficial additions to the school this year was the expansion of the Student Store. The new store gave needed floor space and convenient walk-around service. All year seven girls worked willingly to provide excellent service to the students during both lunch periods. They sold everything from penny red licorice to Chaucer's Canterbury Tales to pillows. Mr. Gay, the Advisor, had his hands full but managed to do a commendable job in keeping things running smoothly. Honor was brought to the Store when Student Council voted in Store Manager, Liana Rosander, to a membership on Executive Council. This was just one way the students had to show their gratitude to the new Student Store and the girls who worked so diligently to make it successful.

Alpha–I–Daka, a senior girls service club, held activities in three areas: service, fundraising, and entertainment. The twenty-three girls organized this year's Thanksgiving assembly, and then went on to sponsor a book drive. For weeks students contributed used books in good shape that they had no use for, and the Alpha–I–Daka girls sorted them and evaluated their worth. They sold them to other students. The money earned from the book drive went toward sponsoring the Spring Cotton Informal where they crowned Pat Conner King Cotton. Through these activities, Alpha–I–Daka has provided ample service to our school.

The past year proved to be an exciting one for Shana, the junior girl's service club, since they were involved in various activities throughout the year. The girls started the year off by serving at the Homecoming dinner. During the Christmas season, Shana was in charge of putting on the Christmas Tea and Dance held in the cafeteria. An added highlight to the girls was the selection of new club sweatshirts which are olive green and baby blue.

The Radio Club, headed by Mr. Nelson, promotes interest in the field of radio by aiding boys in getting their amateur licenses. Presently, the boys have an amateur radio station in the school with transmitting and receiving equipment. All members are enthusiastic about the activities, and have learned much from their radio experience.

auto club

Auto Club is another of the many newly-formed clubs at Parkrose this year. Organized by Mr. Alexander, the club discusses cars, works on engines, and builds model cars. This summer they hope to take trips to organized dragster shows. Although they are just getting organized, they have made a big step in promoting a lasting club.

visual aids

The Visuals Aids class, advised by Mr. Hearst, runs films for classrooms and are responsible for getting visual aids equipment where it is needed. They have done an excellent job this year.

sound engineers

The Sound Engineers, headed by Mr. Pearson, provide the proper lighting and public address facilities for all assemblies, meetings and programs. They have well proven their worth to the functioning of Parkrose.

stage crew

One of the most necessary but least known groups around school is the Stage Crew. Advised by Mr. Corbett, they perform an excellent job of building and painting the sets for all drama productions.

The Science Club has planned many interesting field trips. In the summer they went on an outing to Eagle Creek to take biology samples. Over spring vacation they went foscil-hunting. They have changed an outside court into an outdoor-study biology court. Besides "studious" activities, the club took second place in the display contest during Homecoming Week and put on the Beachcombers Ball.

This year's Astronomy Club showed much enthusiasm in their undertakings, including a trip to a home in Corbett to make observations through a Questar. With this instrument they were able to see clearly people boarding a plane at our Portland airport, some 20 miles from Corbett. The money they earned from collecting bottles went toward materials to build a telescope, which they spent much of the spring months building.

This newly formed club is for those interested in the outdoors. Their advisor, Mr. Johnson, has created within the club, an interest for conservation, and an appreciation of the country which surrounds us. The members have gone on one hike this year and hope to have many other activities as the club becomes better known.

philosophy

To be precise, the Philosophy Club is an indefinite group that spends innumerable hours discussing insoluable problems for positively unfathomable reasons. Fearlessly guided by their leader, the brilliant Gerald McCubbin, this club explores the height, depth, and breadth of the Parkrose intellect which makes for pretty cramped quarters.

art club

A pencil, brush, and plenty of paper are the tools of the Art Club. Combining talent and efficiency, members produce much of the advertising seen throughout the school. The advanced art students contribute their specialized skill to the betterment of graphic display.

campus life

Advised by Mr. Bowman, Campus Life is a club for those interested in the Christian way of life. It is open to anyone interested in learning about religion, no matter what the individual's own faith may be. They are affiliated with Youth for Christ and have many activities with them. The club organized the Easter assembly for the student body, and also had films and discussions within their own group.

booster club

The Booster Club members are certainly people on the move as they travel long distances to make up a large portion of the cheering crowds at all athletic events not held at Parkrose. Membership into the club is merely the payment of dues which go for insurance and driving costs. The members of Booster Club sign up for trips under the organization of the president, Jackie Holmes, and her assistants, Karen Acker, Cassandra Starkel, Sharon Warrington, and Joyce Wilson, guided by Mr. Godsil. The Booster club is indeed a necessity to the exceptional Parkrose rooting section.

The Forensics Club, a group organized with the common enjoyment in public speaking, spent a busy year preparing speeches and attending tournaments. At their meetings, members gave speeches for the rest of the group and then listened to criticism and suggestions for improvement. This served as preparation for tournaments at Pacific University and Linfield College. At these tournaments, two girls, Linda Farris and Linda Fulcher made the finals. In addition, this year Parkrose hosted the Wilco League Debate Tournament and initiated a Novice Tournament, giving students who have never participated in a speech tournament the needed experience. Forensics has provided an excellent interest club for the talented speakers at Parkrose.

Entre Nous was an experiment in enjoyment, organized to introduce its members to foreign foods and cultures. The club held dinner meetings at a number of Portland restaurants including the Kitchen Kettle, Chalet l'Abbe and Amalfi's. Coordinated programs were presented by speakers who had travelled abroad and brought items of interest. Also, many of the members participated by singing French carols at the Christmas assembly this year.

German Club has helped to open a new world of culture to the students at Parkrose who are taking German. They have taken care of Rolf, their adopted German orphan, and have raised money for the scholarship which is given at the end of each year. For fun, the Club has held dinners at Chalet L'Abbey, the Flower Drum, and Amalfi's. They have experienced just a sample of what it would be like to live in another country, and because of this experience, the Club has been a worthwhile organization to the students who have participated this year.

The Spanish Club, besides promoting interest in the language and in the Spanish-speaking countries, has taken on a number of activities of its own. The club sponsors a boy in Chile, and held a movie in May to raise money to help with the support. Early in the year, they spent one night at the beach, and throughout the year they have held dinners at various restaurants in Portland. The students participating in this club have added much to their knowledge and enjoyment through their many activities this year.

The members of the A Capella Choir sang their way through a busy year. Mrs. Findlay scheduled numerous performances for the group, encouraging the members to practice each day. The A Capella Choir prepared for programs such as the Wilco League Choral Festival, the Arts Festival and the Easter program. Their main efforts throughout the school year were all pooled towards the spring musical, "Brigadoon." The Benson Hotel also served as a stage for the A Capella Choir when they performed for the young Life Campaign. They had a successful year--well-deserved.

Choraliers has contributed their full share in the Choral activities which have been presented this year. Under the student direction of Terry McKee, they have done a job for themselves, and for the whole department. They earned money to buy new outfits, and also help finance Brigadoon, the spring musical. The group found many other ways to keep themselves busy, always being constructive in their efforts for the school.

debonaires

"Hear, Hear!" is the theme song for this year's Debonaires, although their reportoire contains a majority of Mary Poppins numbers. They have enjoyed performing for such groups as the Officers' Wives Club at the Portland Air Base, a Young Life Parents Night, and a Lions Club dinner at Centennial, given to raise money for a kidney machine. For fun, they held a party at Christmas time for past and present Debonaires. They had a going away breakfast for their student teacher, Miss Baies, and planned a beach party for May. The Debonaires certainly added a lot of sparkle to the atmosphere at Parkrose.

The members of the String Ensemble make up half of the Snap, Crackle, Pops Orchestra. They are a part of a class that meets each morning, picking out and rehearsing music to present at performances. They played a fall concert entitled "Going Baroque," a Christmas concert, the final number of the Wilco League Choir Festival and Participated in the All-Instrumental Festival in the spring. The students involved have greatly benefited from this instrumental experience.

The Concert and Varsity Band spent an active year, performing in four main concerts, the Pops Concert, Wilco League Festival, the Spring Concert, and the All-Parkrose Instrumental Festival. They also hosted the Oak Bay High School Band who visited them from Canada. When they weren't practicing for a performance, they took time out for pleasure. At Christmas they went on a tree hunt and in the spring they held a picnic. At the picnic, band awards were given to the students who had contributed more than their share of time and effort to the band. The enthusiasm put in by the 80 band members contributed to an interesting and successful year.

This year's dance band, although not participating in many activities, was well appreciated in the ones which they did take on. They helped in the Homecoming activities, which were soon followed by their playing for the Senior Ball. Their final performance was at the Pop's Concert. The band practices on every Monday night throughout the year. They are a group of students with closely related interests who have put their interests to work.

Pep Band, consisting of thirty Concert and Varsity Band members, has contributed more than its share of enthusiasm and support to this year's basketball team. Playing at pep assemblies, all home games, at the Holiday Classics, and at the Far West Classics, the band has been a credit to the school. Parkrose owes its thanks to the band for the job which was taken on and successfully completed.

Honor Society, headed by Mike Kirby, started out this year by adding fifty-four new members to the club. These students were chosen at an assembly given for the whole student body. Soon following the assembly, the club gave an induction banquet for the members and their parents. Later, to obtain money for their annual scholarship award, the members sold tickets to Janus, a play presented at the Blue Room.

Mrs. Burnett, as advisor has contributed more than her share of support to the activities of the club. Her enthusiasm, along with that of the members, made this year's Honor Society a worthwhile organization.

The Thespians of Troupe 1783 have done an excellent job of furthuring the recognition which Parkrose now receives for its drama department. They started the year out with Shakespeare's Twelvth Night. This was followed up in the second semester with the presentation of three plays--The Chairs, The Room, and Zoo Story. At the Speech Arts Festival, two prominant members, Michele Mariana and Dean Gordanier, each received $200 scholarships for their fine acting performances. The year ended as a success with the workshop presentation given by Parkrose at the National Thespian Convention in June. For those involved, drama has become more than just an activity. It has become a way of life.

Quill and Scroll is one of the three national honorary clubs chartered at Parkrose. Annual and Bud Staff students comprise its membership; and because they are only a small club, they take on only a few activities throughout the year. They are dedicated to promoting excellence in journalistic writing.

The Literary Review is one of the three Parkrose High School publications. But, much more than that, the Review is an intellectual exercise.

While in the process of editing and designing a yearly collection of student writing, the staff members are often required to perform amazing feats. They must lift mental bar bells and run intellectual sprints.

The result?... First, a rather impressive literary publication——secondly, a hardy group of well muscled athletes, free from the intellectual flabbiness which plagues the majority of us.

bud staff

Throughout the year, the Bud Staff does an excellent job of providing students with a complete news coverage of senior high activities. The "Bud" is published every two weeks under the supervision of Mr. Perry.

Staff work is done in four sections under student management: Sports, Features, Editorials, and Straight News. First year journalism students serve as reporters. The Senior staff members are the editors who are kept busy with assigning stories, writing headlines, planning lay-outs, and proof-reading articles.

Much recognition should be given the '65-'66 Bud Staff for their great efforts toward keeping the student body well informed.

equus ferox staff

The purpose of the Annual Staff is to publish the Parkrose yearbook —— the Equus Ferox, and to introduce its members to journalism, The book is divided into 8 sections under student leadership. Each section analyzes annuals and strives to make improvements. "Originality" is the motto as the staff designs lay-outs, selects pictures and writes copy. A change made in this year's annual is summer delivery, which was decided upon by a student body vote. This enables the staff to include the Junior–Senior Prom, Graduation, and the Senior Party, and make the '66 Equus Ferox bigger and better than ever.

highlights in the making

Beginning with the Sophomore Mixer and ending with the Junior–Senior Prom, a world of fun and fantasy spreads itself throughout the year at Parkrose.

Our proud memories are those of the 1966 Homecoming Queen, Sandi Waddell, seated on her throne, of the Drama department merrily presenting Shakespear's Twelfth Night. Decisions too as each of us decided who would be the best candidate for Student Body President next year. And mixed emotions as we had a last fling together as Seniors at the all-night party.

These activities and many more, will remain foremost in our minds as we browse back over this year at Parkrose.

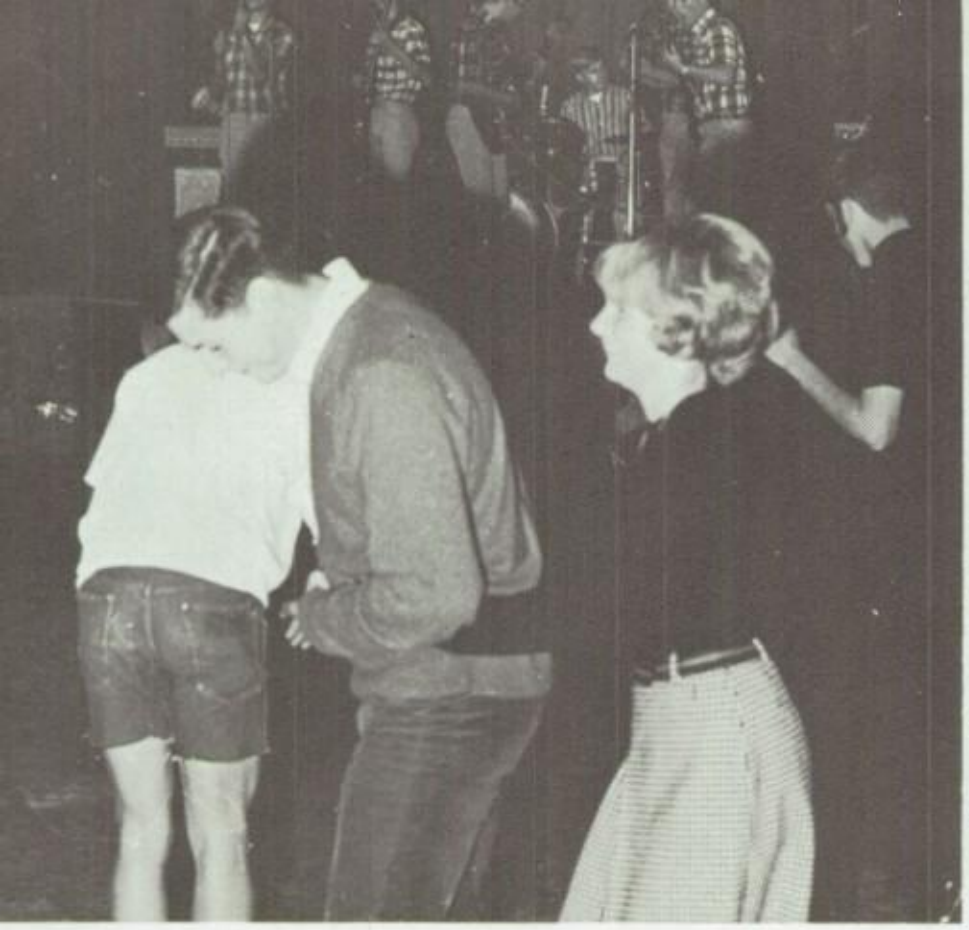
sister tea

The new Sophomore girls felt genuine sincerity along with the welcome from their big sisters.

Sally Van Rooy, Girls League President, introduced Mary Kales who narrated a clever skit which portrayed the many exciting activities which would follow throughout the year.

The atmosphere was friendly and all girls enjoyed a good time.



masquerade ball

Amid weird settings and in the atmosphere of R. F. and the Aztecs, gory couples danced at the Thespian's Masquerade Ball.

For entertainment Michele Mariana and Mr. Corbett did their improvised monster mash.

The best costume prize, a ticket to the Twelth Night play, was awarded to Jerry Howard.

mr. touchdown

As the climax to the 1965 football season, John Dye was crowned Mr. Touchdown at the Girl's League anual Mr. Touchdown dance. He was chosen by his teammates not only for his contribution to the team, but also for his excellent sportsmanship. This year he played both as a back on offense and a line backer on the defensive squad. Becki Haglund, the committee chairman, crowned John and he danced the first dance with the Girl's League President, Sally Van Rooy, to the music of Peter and the Wolves.

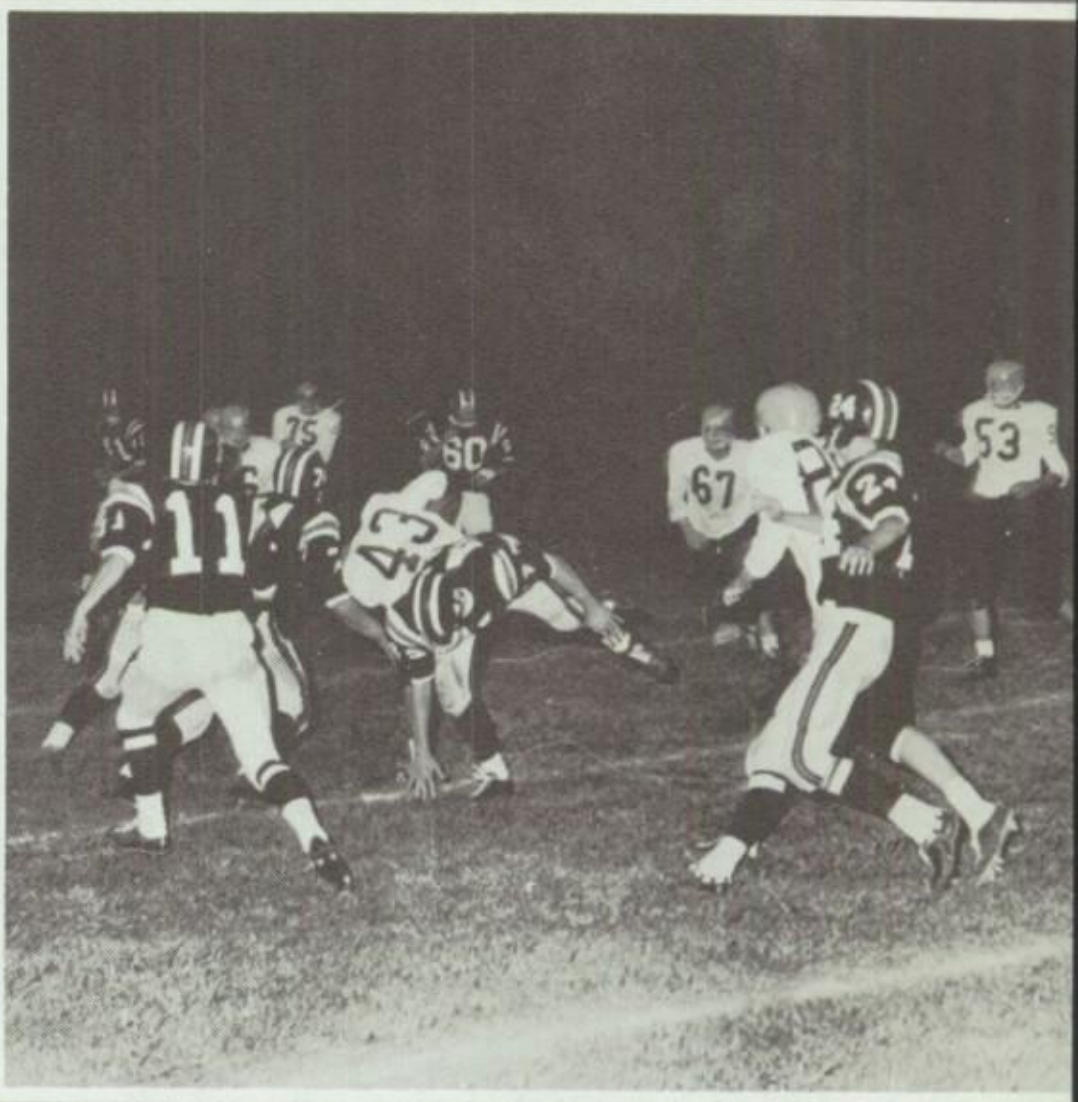
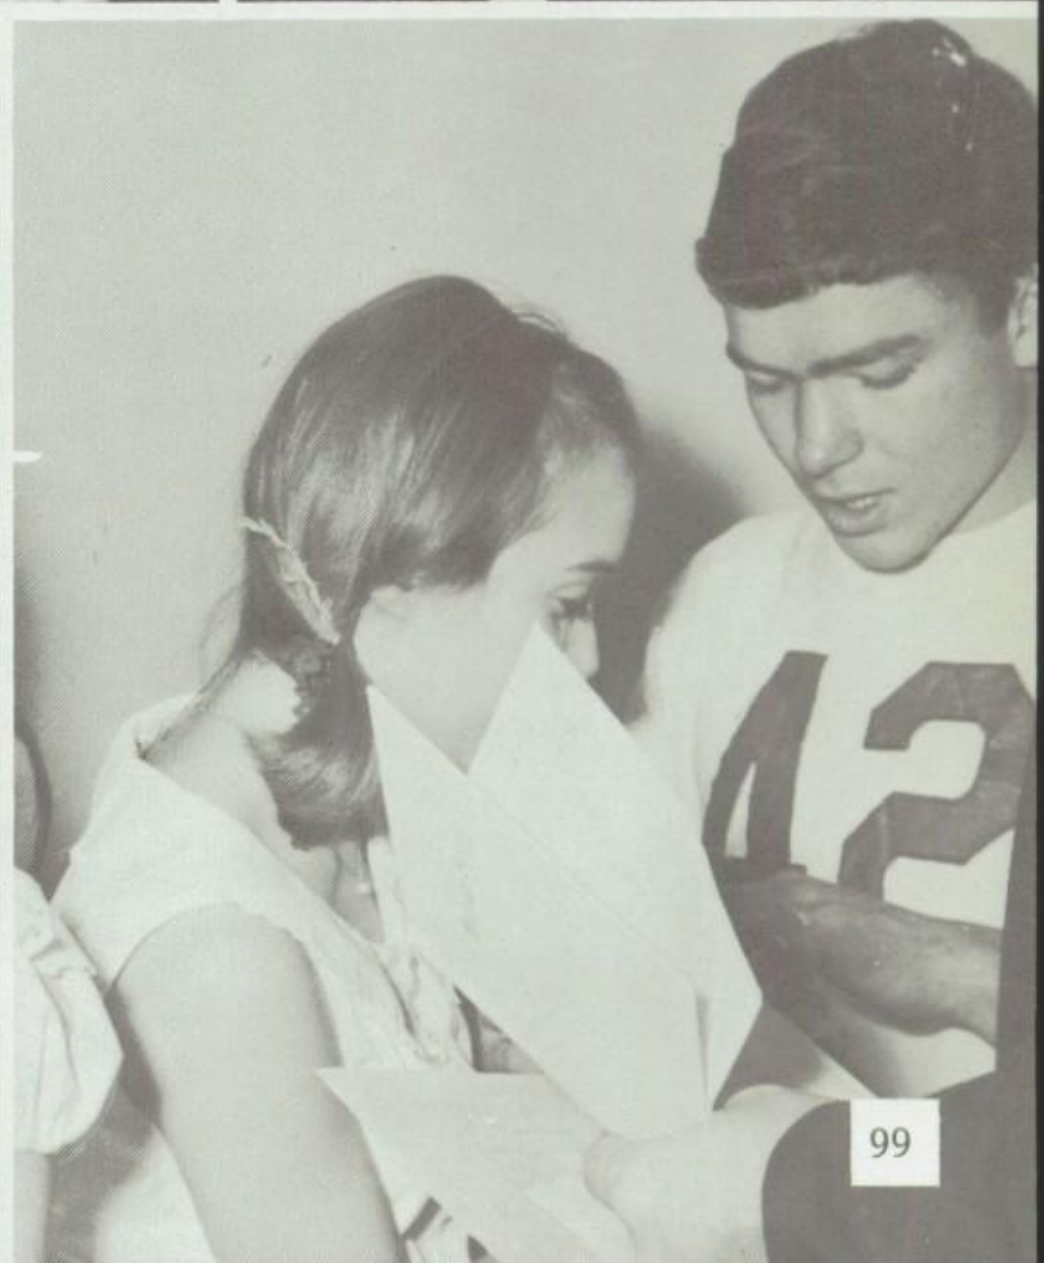
The homecoming queen coronation started the week with an air of elegance and excitement. Beautiful Queen Sandi Waddell kept her calm composure while being crowned and reigned throughout the week with regal dignity.

Friday night the bonfire blazed while the rally led the crowd in yells before the game. A human chain proceeded to the grandstands and the game with tough Wy'East began. And even after a sad defeat, the Broncos, with undampened spirits, went to the homecoming dance where everyone had a wonderful time. Homecoming 1965———indeed a great success.



sadie hawkins

The Sadie Hawkins Dance of 1965 was one of lively music, fast dancing, and much fun. The Classmen won the battle of the combos over The Tasmanians, but both groups were great. Sponsored by the Pep Club, the dance was a huge success with Marryin' Sam, alias Mr. Johnson, performing all marriage ceremonies.



senior ball

Adorning the center of the floor was a large beautiful Christmas tree which added to the traditional Christmas dance for Seniors and their dates. The room was a-glow with decorations and a long red carpet led from the Christmas tree to a huge unusual holly tree. The punch was served by the Junior servers, Dan Mathews, Janice Kelley, Martin Schmidt, and Chris Borge. Our own Parkrose Dance Band provided excellent mood music which lent to the atmosphere of the Senior Ball of 1965.

The orchestra, led by Mr. Williams, put the Christmas assembly in the fitting spirit, and were followed by the "Second Lunch Bunch," a group of male teachers, who sang Yuletide songs. Drama students added gaiety to the assembly with their skit in which shaving cream pies were the hit and the "Jolly Green Giant" was the punster. Each of the foreign language clubs sang the songs most appropriate for their country, and the assembly ended with the whole student body joining in singing American carols. Dean Gordanier was the M.C.

The Christmas Tea and Dance, which was held after the Christmas Assembly, provided a welcome climax to the last day before vacation. After some fast dancing, activity was stopped and everyone prepared for the big announcement. Who won the Toy Drive? SENIORS! Kris Nelson was crowned Miss Merry Christmas by Pat Conner; Judy Gaudina was named Miss Snow Flake and was presented with a pretty broach. Linda Evenson and Jan Brecht represented the Junior Class and Karen Ahlberg and Jo Meng were the Sophomore Class's nominees.

The traditional cupids danced from gay colored parachutes as Queen Linda Evenson and her princesses Linda Hardesty, Leslie Gray, Lynn Longley, Nancy Metcalf, and Mary Stock were escorted up to the stage through flowered archways and past the wishing fountain at the Sweethearts' Ball. Everyone danced to the music of the Cleveland Band and agreed that the Lettermen's Club had done a great job at creating an evening to remember.

spring cotton informal

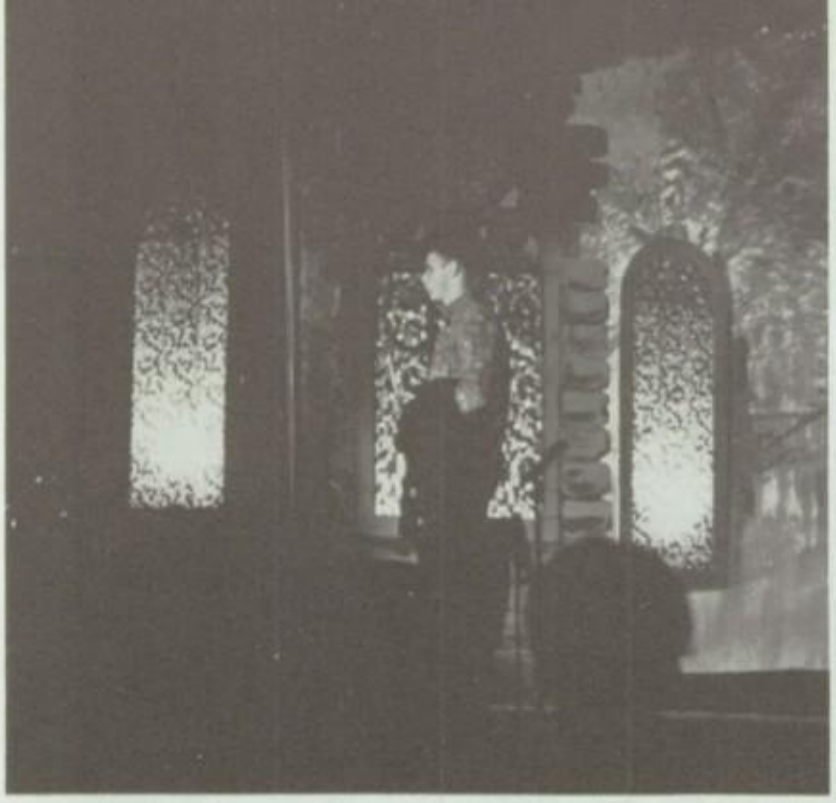
Alpha–I–Daka, the senior girls' club, which is advised by Mrs. Estcourt, can take the full credit for the tremendous success of the Spring Cotton Informal.

An evening of lighthearted excitement prevailed in the presence of the gaily flowered decorations and spring was officially welcomed.

The wild dancing to the music of the "In Crowd" ceased only when King Pat Conner was announced as King Cotton and then crowned. The other members of his court were Steve Richardson, Tom Hilts, Dick Kraus, Steve Jones, and Ken Reed.

beachcomber's ball

"Bring your surfboard and get in free" was the cry of the science club members who again sponsored the Beachcombers' Ball. The loud and fast music of the combo provided an exciting atmosphere for the dance.



spring musical "brigadoon"

This year, Parkrose High School has acquired a distinctive new emblem. It seeks to condense, within a simple artistic framework, the hopes and achievements of our school, the beauty of its surroundings, its history, and lasting traditions.

Incorporating the special symbols of the school and community––the bronco, Mt. Hood, the Columbia River, and the rose––with the universal symbols of knowledge, art, and physical development, the coat of arms design indicates the variety of goals and interests of Parkrose students, and the opportunities here for learning and growth.

The success of the new emblem, and indeed of secondary education for the school's graduates, depends on the extent of their significance and usefulness in the future.

Our sincere thanks to the Student Council, Administration, and Mr. Phil Barrager, Director of Design for The Crown Company of Portland and Josten's of Santa Barbara, California, and to Mrs. Carscallen for their contributions in the design of the Parkrose High School coat of arms.

jr. - sr. prom

The "Torrii Gate" marked the entrance to the Junior-Senior Prom, "Sayonara," and an enchanting evening for everyone. An arched-bridge overlooking a goldfish pond led the way to the refreshments which included oriental fortune cookies and punch. Couples in formal wear danced gracefully to the fine music of Bill Becker and his band.

in the making

Whether one enjoys the thrill of crossing a goal line clutching a pigskin, or being the first to sprint down the track and break the ribbon, or sinking a basketball through the net, or sliding into homeplate as a ball whizzes into a catchers mitt, there will be a feeling of school spirit like that ever present at Parkrose.

Each athlete will remember the tense locker room, quick and encouraging coaches, sweaty bodies, penalty whistles, and the sound of crowds cheering them on to victory.

Each student will remember rallies, assemblies, skits, games, and victory dances. We will remember Parkrose, too, as loyalty to black and white to the Broncos.

Determination and success are words that describe the '65 Parkrose swim teams. Determination was a key factor when the girl's team matched victories with the boy's team at the district championship. The boy's team claimed success at the state meet in Eugene where they emerged as third place victors.

Individual achievement marked the '65 diving season. Thanks to a new duraflex diving board the boys were able to master intricate dives new to the Parkrose diving team. Later, at the state meet in Eugene the Parkrose divers ranked high, helped with a fifth place win by Bob Williams.

The '66 wrestling team members had an active season and were satisfied with their record of 9 won, 4 lost, and 1 tied. The team was handicapped with the loss of five outstanding wrestlers from last year and with the forfeiture of the 98 lb. weight class. But the excellent records of Harry Alton, Ron McElroy, and Dan Williams gave the team an extra boost. Harry Alton had a record of 16 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie and represented Parkrose at the state tournament.

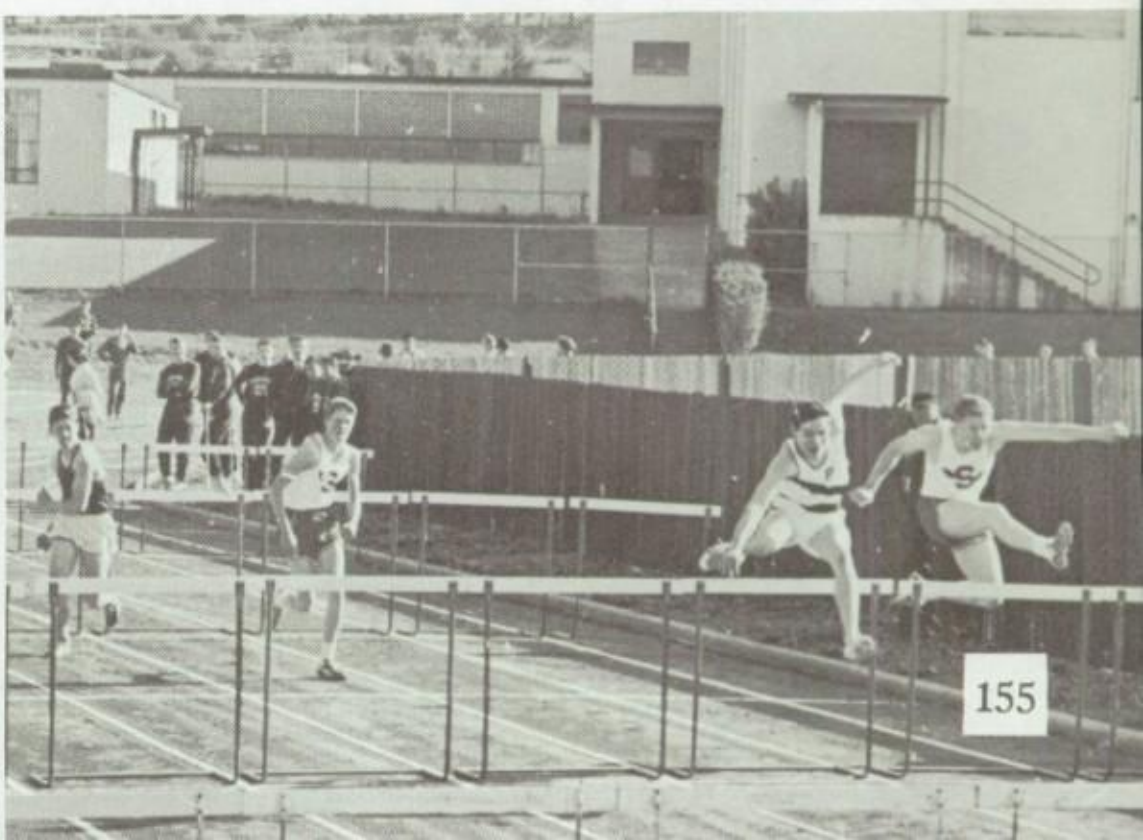
The Parkrose Trackmen closed the 1966 season with an excellent record of five 1st places, two 2nd places, and one 3rd place in two way, three way, and six may meets. The District Track Tournament was held at Reynolds on May 21. The Broncs placed 2nd in the district and six members of the Parkrose team qualified for the State Tournament. Doug Wellman qualified in the mile, Marvin Pope in the 100 yard dash, Tim Juett in the quarter mile, and Tom Jeschke in the high hurdles. The relay team that represented Parkrose at State was composed of Dave Dickman, Mike Brown, Tim Juett, and Marvin Pope.



The 1966 golf season was marked by the Welches Invitational Golf Tournament, which was hosted by the Parkrose Girls' Golf Team. Marsha Lentz, a member of the Parkrose team, placed fifth out of 30 girls in the tournament. The Parkrose girls finished fourth in the tournament as a team.

On May 18, the Annual Parkrose Invitational Golf match was held. The top five players that represented Parkrose were Lesley Gray, Karla Plue, Marsha Lentz, Kathy Vanek, and Helen Warner.

The Boys Golf Team finished the season with a balanced record of eleven wins and eleven losses. They defeated both Canby and Jesuit with Chris Zuercher and Jack Robertson tying for medalist honors. In a three-way meet with Molalla and Scappoose, the team defeated Scappoose, 8–2, but lost to Molalla, 9–6. Steve Stipe was the medalist with a 40. Jack Robertson did an outstanding job as medalist in two meets with David Douglas and Tigard.

The 1966 tennis season was highlighted by outstanding individual achievement rather than pronounced success on a team basis. Marilyn Curry held an undisputed first place on the girls' tennis team as she won 6 out of 7 single matches. At the District Tennis Tournament at Parkrose Marilyn placed third in singles. The double team of Dixie Raab and Sherry South also met with success in league competition.

The boys' tennis team record was slightly higher than that of the girls', partly due to Bill McCartney's outstanding performance in singles. Like Marilyn Curry, Bill held down the number one spot all season and lost but one match during the first part of the season. At the District Tennis Tournament Bill and Dick Basford took 1st doubles and later went on to the consolation bracket at the State Tournament.

in the making

A group of people, small in comparison to a student body, makes possible each day and year we spend at this school.

Our principal and vice-principals take care of the problems of scheduling scholastic and athletic endeavers, initiating new programs, and facing a host of minor day-to-day crisises.

The secretaries aid the principals in every way possible by answering phones, typing bulletins, and submitting state reports.

The teachers, of course, are more directly related to us as students. Each day they present to us those facts and skills which will accompany us in our personal lives as well as in school life by working to schedule classes and plan for graduation.

This is our team.

"To a great extent, the life we lead today is made up of a never-ending series of decisions. We make decisions as groups and as individuals; some are trivial and some are monumental.

There are so many crossroads to face that life becomes bewildering, and our thoughts and actions often become something less than the result of conscious logic. The obvious problems of the world today, those of nations as well as those of individuals, serve as damning evidence that the signs at some of the crossroads have been missed entirely, or at least misinterpreted.

It is to be hoped that your education thus far, and that which you find in the future, whether formal or informal, will assist you in pointing your lives in a direction which will improve man's ability to live peacefully and happily in the world.

It is to be hoped that you will be more successful in your ventures than preceding generations. We are leaving a world with two strikes against it. Most of us believe that only through education and understanding will come any sort of improvement in human relations.

The challenge is obvious. May I encourage you to accept it. You must become better persons, better parents, better citizens, and better leaders than your predecessors if humanity is to survive. The decisions are many but not impossible. Failure cannot be one alternative."

asst. principal

Marion K. Duley has been, is, and probably always will be one of the most prominent and familiar personages among our hallowed halls. He successfully fulfills the immense, time-consuming job of scheduling each and every sophomore, junior, and senior for seven periods a day, every day of the year. Mr. Duley also takes charge in the discipling of students, by which he discusses with the student the reason for discipline and how one shall be penalized.

Herb K. Booth has a very extensive job throughout the year taking charge of the attendence office. Checking in, checking out, and accepting excuse notes, takes up a good deal of his time as a daily routine. Mr. Booth also schedules all student government, club, and athletic activities. He assembles the the students entire social calendar. A former athlete and coach, Mr. Booth works extremely close with all phases of sports.

administration

"The Class of 1966" has the best wishes of faculty, Board of Education, and the entire community. Congratulations to each of you on the successful completion of your first twelve years of formal education.

Sometimes the administrative staff members wonder how they have influenced this segment of your life. Certainly it is an influence that can not be measured quantitatively; but it is our hope that the quality of your experience has been enriched because we care and expend our efforts. It is our hope that you will meet success in the future in whatever your endeavors may be."

counselors

The counselors at Parkrose assist many students with their advice and both the girls' and the boys' counselors help to supply answers to all questions both academic and personal.

Mr. McCubbin, vocational and college counselor, is always busy and the students are impressed by his personal concern and desire to do as much as he can for each one, willingly and with understanding. Here is a friend as well as a counselor to the entire senior class.

Each secretary, performing his individual duties, is vital to our school's operation.

Mrs. Carscallen, the principal's secretary, is in charge of state records, and college transcripts.

Mrs. McFarlane takes fees and supervises the student body records.

Mrs. Wold takes care of student records, attendence and grade files.

Mrs. Hurst, being the secretary to Mr. Duley, Mr. Struckman, and Mrs. Smith keeps files and helps with four-year forecasts.

Mr. Hurst, visual aids secretary, coordinates all the tapes and films in our school.

Mrs. Powell has the responsibility of being library secretary, and is always helping students find the books they need.

cooks

The cooks prepare a delicious variety of lunch foods for the students, plus hot cinnamon rolls for the snack break. Few people realize the hard work and planning that is put into the meals and numerous banquets.

bus drivers

Three hundred miles per bus driver––in one week's work! In addition to this job, of transporting students to school, they also drive students to concerts, plays, and field trips––always enduring and enjoying the "back of the bus" singing and gaiety.

Never failing in their duty, the custodians always keep the building sparkling clean––a place of which to be proud. Always remember the trusty keys to locked doors, and––of course––those gentle reminders, ''Off the tables!''

in the making

A sophomore new at Parkrose will experience a new type of school where he will be expected to act as a mature young adult, free of constant supervision. A junior, with a year behind him and one ahead, will know the responsibilities and attitudes expected of him. And a senior with just his last year, will cling to the memories of his past two years almost as sacred——as the last days he will be spending at Parkrose.

As the Class of '66 passes on and the next class enters, the traces of each class with its own distinct personality will be evident in the term of athletic records, scholastic endeavors, and club activities. Each class will leave its mark at Parkrose because that is what Parkrose is: A history of its students.

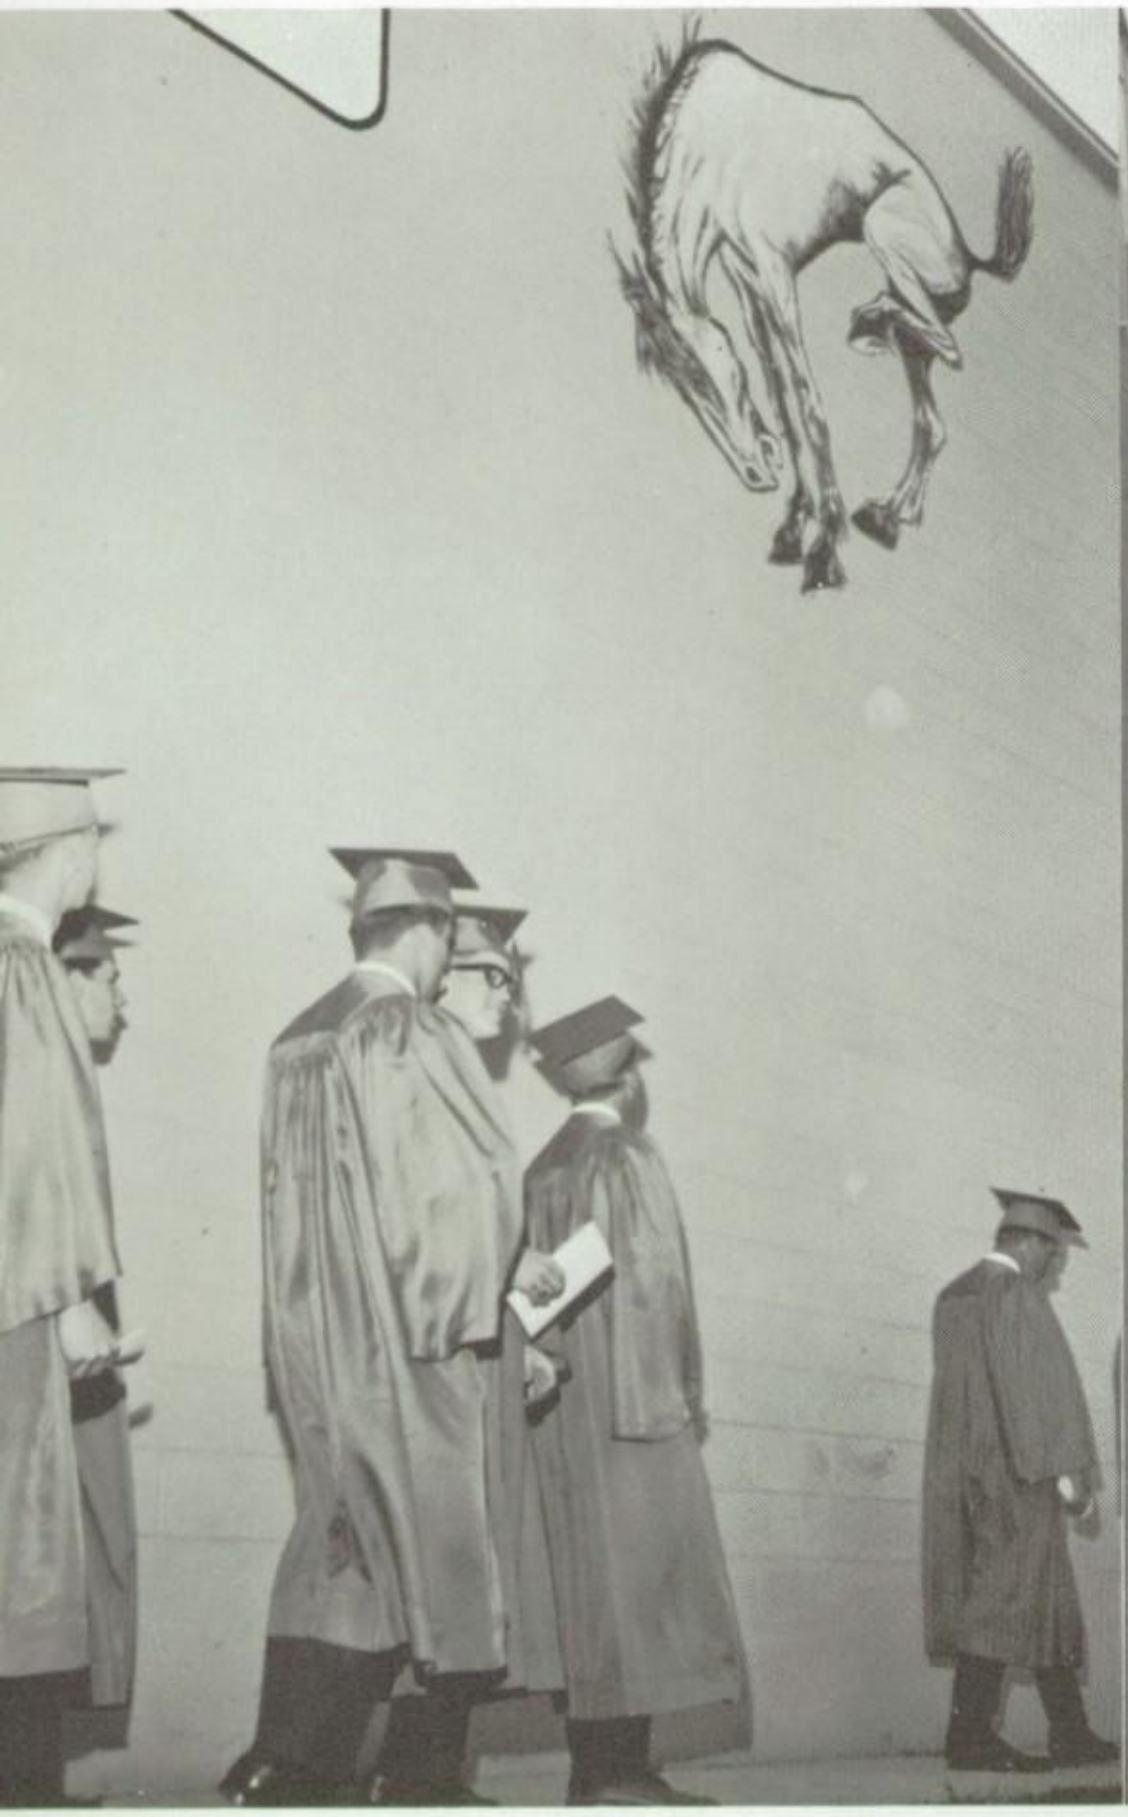
commencement service



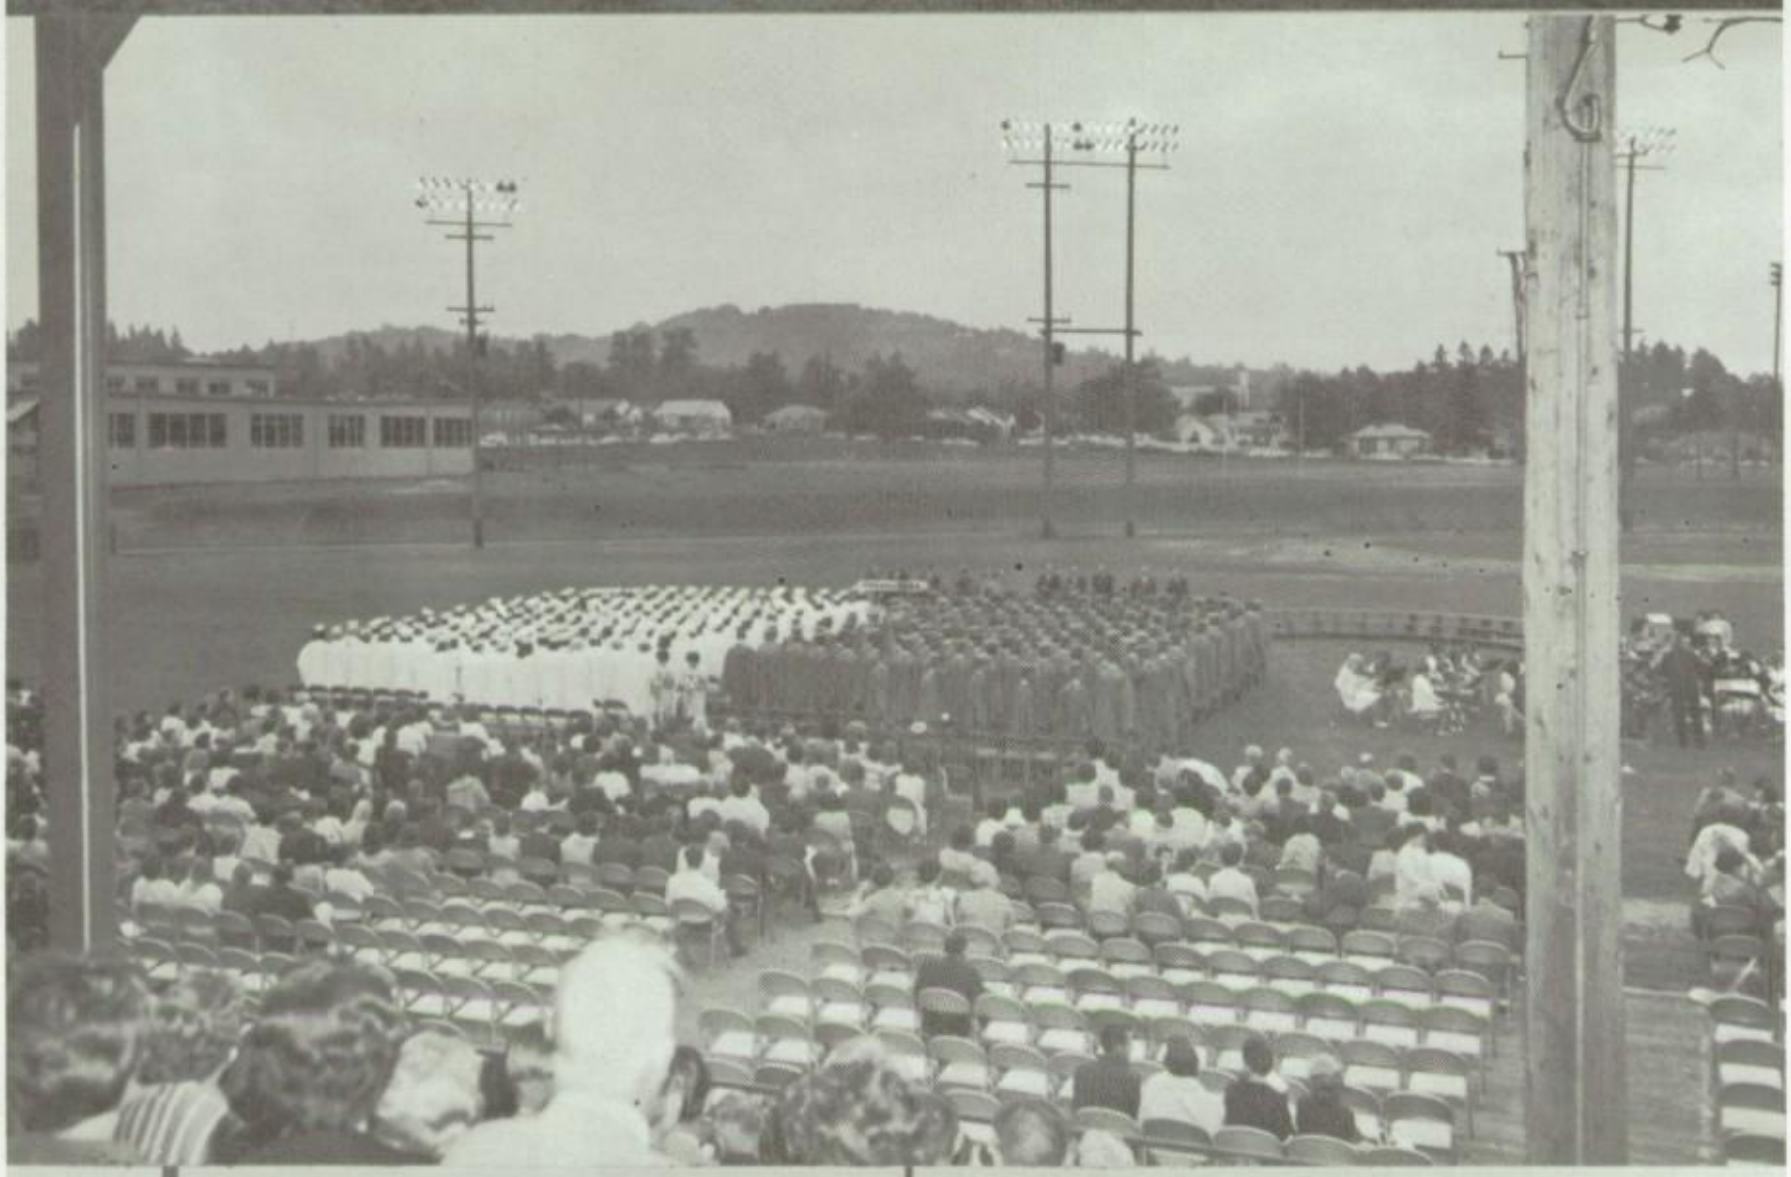
This year's commencement services, to the delight of 2,000 friends and relatives, was held outdoors. Mr. Anderson remarked that several members of the clergy helped to ward off the rain as clouds covered the stadium and wind blew the robes and tassels of 314 anxious seniors.

Co-valedictory addresses were given by Jeff Schneider and Dave Abbott on the importance of education. Mr. Anderson then presented a long list of class honors, which was followed by presentation of diplomas by Mr. Baetkey, chairman of the school board.

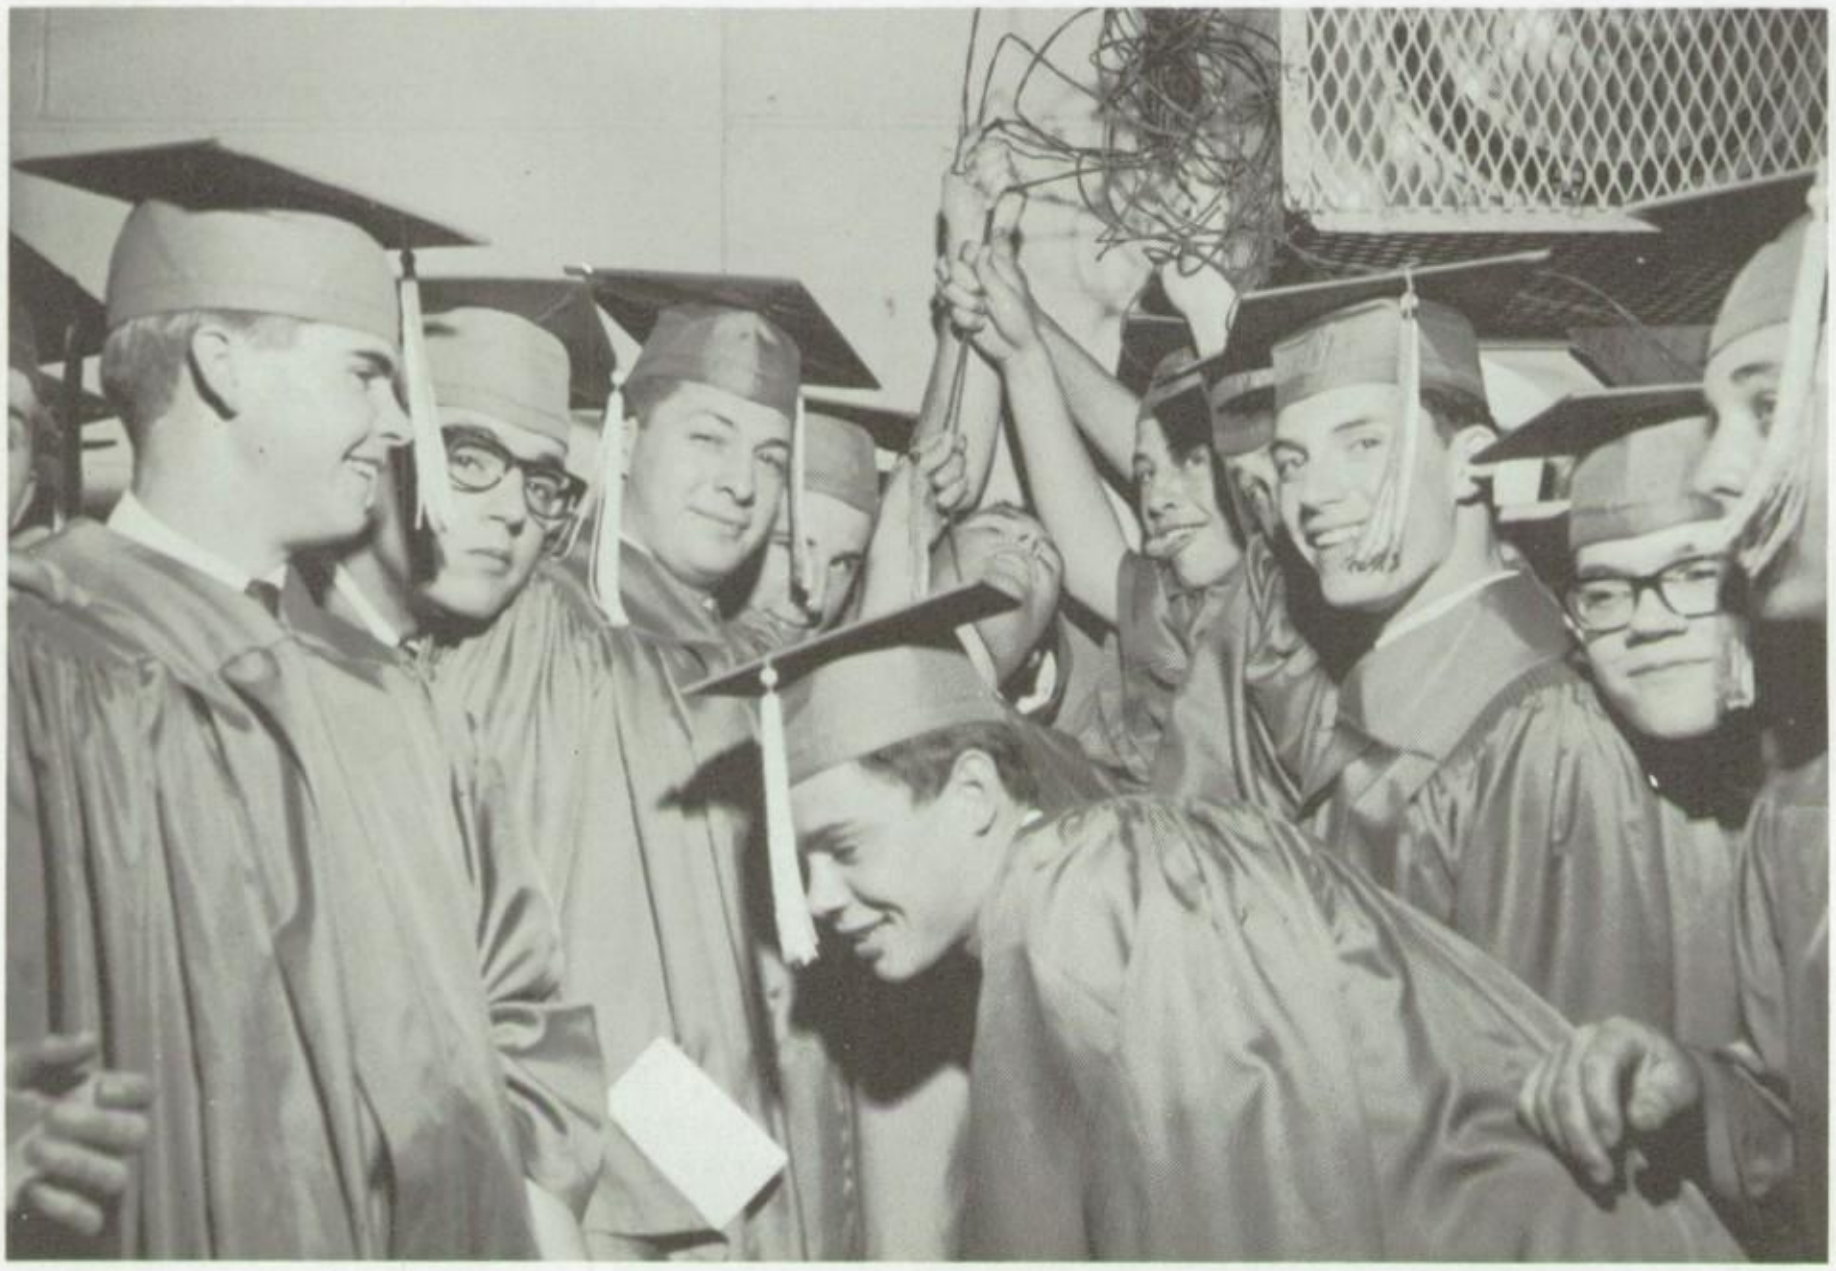
The choir completed graduation exercises by singing "Climb Every Mountain", from which the senior class motto was taken.

"Climb Every Mountain; Search High and Low".

PERKINSE SENIOR HIGH



commencement:



an end to it all ?

auf-wiedersehen

The parents of the 1966 senior class, Parkrose Senior High School, cordially invited all graduating seniors to "Auf-Wiedersehen", Thursday night, June 9, 1966.

The theme "Auf-Wiedersehen", meaning goodbye in German, was very appropriate as for many of the seniors this will be the last time they will be gathered together. The gaily colored decorations were as usual "snatched" by sentimental seniors for long lasting memories. From 11:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m., dancing, swimming, movies, games and plenty of food was appreciated by each senior present.

At this time we, the senior class, would like to thank all our wonderful and thoughtful parents for helping complete our high school years with a big "bang" making the all night party successful.

In Memory Of
Deon Antoinette Stipac

"Her angelic face and brilliant voice added a spark of light that will be dimmed forever, but will glow in the hearts of all who knew her."

Mrs. L. Findlay

In memory of Deon Antoinette Stipac who, were it not for her unfortunate death in an auto accident last year, would have graduated with the Class of '66.

class of '66

Vice President: Steve Briggs Secretary: Tom Bobbitt

To a Senior, commencement is the end of secondary education, and yet it is the beginning of a more intense education, whether it be college, work, or marriage. The past three years were filled with many achievements for the senior class. As sophomores they became the largest class to enter Parkrose thus far. As Juniors, they spent the year planning the Junior-Senior Prom. As seniors, their year was filled with graduation plans from the very beginning of the year. For two year's in a row, the class of '66 has been victorious in winning the annual Toy Drive. They highlighted their senior year with the crowning of a senior Homecoming Queen. Individual and personal achievement has been high in this year's senior class. Their mark will long remain at Parkrose as they graduate and take a step "in the making" of an adult.

Liliana Oksana Pokinsky from Caracas, Venezuela had the honor of being a foreign exchange student in the United States.

After being an only child at home, Lily had the privilege of being one of three children in the Kales' family. Members of the family were: Mr. and Mrs. Kales, Mary (junior), Cathy (freshman), and Lily. As a senior, Lily takes the following subjects: Modern Problems, U.S. History, English Seminar, Physics (one semester), Speech (one semester), and French II.

Last summer Kelly Longcor was our American Field Service representative in Turkey. She had this to say about her experience:

"Walk together, talk together O ye peoples of the earth; Then and only then shall ye have peace."

"This is the motto of the American Field Service. It is the basis on which a unique program has developed; a program which sent me nearly ten thousand miles to become a member of the Necati Zongur family in Izmir on the eastern end of the Mediterranean Sea. We became very close, and my experience was a most enlightening and rewarding one for which I am immeasurably grateful."

RAIN FALLING AT DUSK
SWEPT ON, ON, SPILLING MILLIONS OF MOONS ON GRASS BLADES

Sho-u

class of '67

The class of 1967 carried on the usual activities of a junior class by selecting their new class ring, and – of course – struggling through the old stand-bys of English and U.S. History.

The most exciting project of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, and with the advisors, Mr. Bullock and Miss Latta, many helped in the newspaper drive, despite that day's rain and mud puddles.

With this year's end comes one remaining year before the class of '67 graduates, and each of the many years has been a vital record for every individual. Eleven steps upward and one more to go is the process of an adult "in the making."

class of '68

To a sophomore class at Parkrose enthusiasm builds right away. The Sophomore class is always the most spirited and enthusiastic as the wonderful years of high school really begin. This year's sophomores started the year with active support of Homecoming and in the toy drive.

The Class of '68 became the largest class to enter Parkrose, succeeding the Senior and Junior classes. They became united as they stood against upper classmen in class competition. They watched as the building grew to accomodate the growing student body.

As they progress toward their Junior year at Parkrose the class of '68 takes one more step toward an adult "in the making."

advertising

in the making

The backbone of an annual lies in its advertisers. Without these people and their support a yearbook of this scope and quality would not be possible.

Each of these persons had genuine interest in Parkrose as a community and as a school. They are willing to support: in return we should support them. The Equus Ferox Staff wishes to thank each and every advertiser.

LORRAINE BARRAGAR
HARVEY BARRAGAR

313 S. W. FIFTH AVENUE PORTLAND 4. OREGON 223-6156

Dear Students:

Thank you for having selected us as your official photographer. We have endeavored to justify your faith in us by doing our best to please you. We hope that you like us as well as we liked working for you.

In the future, when you have need for good photographs taken by a professional photographer, whether it be a portrait, special pictures of special events, a family group, or formal or candid pictures when you are married, feel free to tell us your requirements. We have an especially fine service on wedding portraits.

We shall look forward to seeing you when you again need the services of a professional photographer.

Let us again express our appreciation for the fine cooperation of the entire student body. It has made our work with you very pleasant.

Sincerely,

KENNELL-ELLIS

GATEWAY AL 2-1441

Rhodes

DOWNTOWN CA 7-7711

Representing Parkrose on the Rhodes Fashion Hi-Board has been a most rewarding experience. It has given me an opportunity to learn about retail business and to know girls from high schools throughout the city. We have had lots of fun together, and I know next year's representative will enjoy it as much as I have.

Karen Ahlberg

to my daughter Linda, and the Equus Ferox Staff for a job well done.

The Equus Ferox Staff of 1966 wishes to extend deep thanks to our printer, Mr. David Stall of Your Town Press, Inc., to our typesetter, Mr. George Taylor, and to Mr. Varnado and the rest of the staff at Kennell-Ellis.

Their interest in the work we have done throughout the school year was encouraging, and we have appreciated their understanding, friendly cooperation, and invaluable services.

We thank them sincerely.
